IN THE BEE TO-DAY

WEATHER.

United States Department of Agriculture.
Weather Bureau.
Toledo, O., Nov. 16, 1892.

The barometer continues low in the west and the conditions are still unsettled. The storm central on the South Atlantic coast yesterday has moved northward and is central this morning off the New York coast. It has caused and will continue to cause dangerous gales over the North Atlantic coast to-day.

The area of high pressure is central over the southern states, and will dominate the weather over that section during the next 36 hours.

During the past 24 hours rains have been general over the lake regions and on the Atlantic coast. They have been light except in New York, where 3.08 inches fell, and 1.22 inches at Boston. Generally fair weather will prevail in all portions of the country to-day except the northeastern portion, where it will rain.

The temperature has fallen over the upper Mississippi and Missouri valleys; it has risen over the lower Mississippi valley and remained nearly stationary in all other sections. The changes during the next 24 hours will be slight.

Local forecast for Toledo and Vicinity—On Wednesday, fair, warmer; on Thursday, fair, slightly cooler.

WAS A GOOD POLICEMAN.

London, Nov. 16.—The trial of George B. Cooper, charged with the murder of his wife Edith, was continued before the court of general jail delivery, at Douglas, Isle of Man, to-day. A policeman, whose beat included Cooper's residence, testified that in the night time he had often heard shrieks and cries of "murder" and "police," uttered in a feminine voice, and had frequently seen Mrs. Cooper with black eyes and a swollen face.

NORWALK'S POSTMATER.

Norwalk, O., Nov. 16.—It is very probable that Chairman F. M. Roth, of the county executive committee, will be made postmaster here.

You can escape just about one half the ills that flesh is heir to, by being ready for them. When you feel dull, languid, "out of sorts" generally—then you may know that some of them are coming. Don't let them get any further.

Brace the system up with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. That prevents as well as cures: It invigorates the liver and kidneys, purifies and enriches the blood, sharpens the appetite, improves digestion, and restores health and vigor.

For all diseases caused by a disordered liver or impure blood—Dyspepsia, Biliousness, the most stubborn Skin, Scalp and Scrofulous affections, the "Discovery" is the only remedy so certain and effective that it can be guaranteed. If it doesn't benefit or cure, you have your money back.

It's not only the best, but it's the cheapest blood-purifier sold, no matter how many doses are offered for a dollar.

With this, you pay only for the good you get.

WAGON LOADS!

You see our wagons every day in every part of the city delivering great loads of Furniture, Carpets, Stoves and Household goods. You see them oftener and better loaded than those of all our competitors together. We mention this as a pointer to you, that as sure as people come to our store and get our prices and terms they are satisfied; they buy. Our terms, prices and goods are the best to be had.

With our Goshen folding bed. There used to be an idea that two into one wouldn't go; this bed upsets the notion completely. It doesn't, like the chameleon, change its color, but it does change its character, and it is as handsome as a bed at night as it is as a book-case in the day-time. It is one of the happiest combinations of modern ingenuity, and in an instant it turns your sleeping apartment into a handsomely appointed library. Perhaps you have an idea that this double advantage carries with it a double cost. It does not. Call and see it and learn the price.

ANNUAL DINNER

Of the New York Chamber of Commerce.

The Flower of the Land Was There.

Chauncey and Grover and Whitelaw and Foster.

A Rich Flow of the Rarest of Orations.

President Cleveland as He Always Does, Said Something When He Spoke.

New York, Nov. 16.—The annual dinner of the Chamber of Commerce was held at Delmonico's last night. It was in the line of banquets, the last of the first quarter of the chamber's second century. In the famous gold and white room, resplendent with light and color, laden with the perfume of flowers and filled with music, were many of the most influential representatives of the social, political, educational and mercantile interests of the country. Rare wands, ancient vintages, and sparkling oratory in judicial admixture comprised the program.

Mr. Cleveland was present. Mr. Depew was also there. In the absence of President Charles Smith, Vice President Alexander E. Orr presided.

Mr. Cleveland sat upon his right and Secretary of the Treasury Charles Foster upon his left.

The cabinet was further represented by Attorney General William H. H. Miller. Besides these at the guests' table were Comptroller of the Currency A. D. Hepburn, Senator Calvin S. Brice, Senator Hiscock, William C. P. Breckinridge, Whitelaw Reid, Carl Schurz, Murat Halstead, Steward L. Woodford, the Rev. Dr. John Hall, the Rev. William H. Babbert, David M. Stone, St. Clair McKelway, and John A. Sleicher. Among those who sat around the festal board were George M. Pullman, D. O. Mills, Herman O. Armour, Henry Villard, Austin Corbin, Richard A. McCurdy, John H. Starin, Jesse Seligman, Col. Eliot F. Shepard, John H. Inman, Henry Clews, William F. Havemeyer, William Steinway, and others.

The toast card provided for but six speeches: "The Treasury Department," by Secretary Foster; "The President of the United States," by Attorney General W. H. H. Miller; "The House of Representatives," by Hon. Wm. C. P. Breckinridge, of Kentucky; "Commerce and Civilization," by Dr. John Hall; "Italy," by Baron Fava; and "Commerce and Education," by President Schurman, of Cornell university. After dinner Mr. Orr made a short address and was followed by Secretary Foster, who, in response to the toast, "The Treasury Department," spoke in part as follows:

The relations of the treasury department to such an important body as the chamber of commerce of New York are such as to justify me on this occasion in speaking somewhat in detail, although briefly, of its personnel and of its relation to the country. The great distress of the secretary is the numerous and persistent importunities of his party and social friends for office. After much observation and experience I do not hesitate to express the opinion that the work of government is better done than that of our great corporations. There is more intelligent knowledge of duty and more integrity than in private employment. The treasurer's bureau, with various sub-treasuries, depositories of public moneys of the country, in a limited sense, may be called an enormous banking institution. Care is always taken to promote the comfort and convenience of the public in its business with the treasury. We have by the use of gold and silver certificates as a circulating medium, illustrated the superiority of paper money over metal to such an extent as to create in the minds of thoughtful men the inquiry as to the utility of coinage. The fact is established that the paper representative is preferred by our people. My successor, with the help of the president, will make many changes of the heads of bureaus and chiefs of divisions, and as a consequence, at least for the time being, the business of the department will suffer. But behind the heads are a corps of trained clerks upon whom the utmost reliance can be placed. I have no doubt that the treasury department will maintain its fairly earned and honorable record.

Attorney-General Miller.

Mr. Orr then introduced Attorney-General W. H. H. Miller, who spoke to the toast of the "President of the United States." This was drank to by all present. Mr. Miller said he had been called upon unexpectedly to speak. President Harrison, he said, was kept away by unexpected difficulties. He was in sore domestic affliction. The voice he listened to was stilled. He occupied a great office, however, and the speaker believed that the people of the United States did not understand the vastness of that office. The founders of the constitution did, however, for they prescribed that the occupant of that office should be an American born, and should receive no other emoluments than the proceeds of that office. He also believed that there was a tendency existing among the legislatures of the states to rob the executive government of its powers, and instanced his own state of Indiana as an example. He thought the legislatures were invading the offices of the executive.

St. Clair McKelvey, of Brooklyn, spoke to the toast of "Italy" in place of Baron Fava, who was kept away by illness. He was followed by Dr. John Hall on "Commerce and Civilization;" Hon. William C. P. Breckinridge on "The House of Representatives," and President Schurman, of Cornell university, on "Commerce and Education." When Professor Schurman had finished his address, Mr. Orr announced that the regular card had been exhausted, but that he would now present to the company a gentleman who needed no words of introduction from him—the Hon. Grover Cleveland. The mention of the president-elect's name was received with an outburst of applause to be hushed to respectful silence when he arose and spoke as follows:

President Cleveland.

Mr. President and Gentlemen: I am exceedingly gratified by the kindness and warmth of your greeting. It does not surprise me, however, for I have seen and felt on more than one occasion the cordial hospitality and heartiness of those who assemble at the annual dinner of our Chamber of Commerce.

We all have noticed that many men, when they seek to appear especially wise and impressive, speak of "our business interests" as something awful and mysterious; and quite often when a proposition is under discussion, its merits are no longer apparent to those whose hair is on end at the solemn suggestion that "our business interests" are lying in wait with numerous vials of wrath in complete readiness for those who arrive at an unaccepted conclusion.

I am fortunate in being able to state that my relation to the Chamber of Commerce of the state of New York, though merely of a complimentary kind arising from honorary membership, has so familiarized me with "business interests" that I no longer regard those words as meaning a bloodthirsty beast, nor do I have constantly before my mind those children in the biblical story who were torn in pieces by bears for discussing too much at random the baldness of an ancient prophet.

It is entirely natural that my familiarity with business interests arising from the relation to which I have referred should be of a very pleasant sort and free from fear and trepidation, for the only meetings I have ever attended of the Chamber of Commerce have been precisely such as this, when the very best things to eat and drink have been exhaustively discussed. I am bound to say that on these occasions the dreadful beings representing business interests have been very human indeed.

I know you will not do me the great injustice of supposing that I in the least underrate the importance of the commercial and financial interests here represented. On the contrary no one appreciates more fully than I that while a proper adjustment of all interests should be maintained, you represent those which are utterly indispensable to our national growth and prosperity. I do not believe that any other interests should be obliged to feed from the crumbs which fall from the table of business, nor do I believe that table should be robbed of the good things which are honestly and fairly there merely because some other tables are not well provided.

It comes to this. We are all interested as Americans in a common pursuit. Our purpose is or ought to be in our several spheres to add to the general fund of national prosperity. From this fund we are all entitled to draw, perhaps not equally, but justly, each receiving a fair portion of individual prosperity. Let us avoid trampling on each other in our anxiety to be first in the distribution of shares, and let us not attempt to appropriate the share of others.

As I close I cannot refrain from expressing my thanks for the courtesies often extended to me by the organization at whose hospitable board I have sat this evening. I beg to assure you that, though I may not soon meet you again on an occasion like this I shall remember with peculiar pleasure the friends made among your membership and shall never allow myself to be heedless of the affairs you so worthily hold in your keeping.

Whitelaw Reid Speaks.

Mr. Cleveland was followed by the Hon. Whitelaw Reid, who introduced himself by saying that the speech making ought to be left to "the other side."

I have made a great many speeches within the last three or four weeks, and I am bound to say I am not at all pleased with the result. The "other side" will ask many questions and it will consider very wisely what is said. We put no obstacle in their way. (Cheers.) I will pay my respects as a loyal American citizen to the elect of 65,000,000 of the American people. As a member of the chamber of commerce I would like to answer a question which my friend from Kentucky (Mr. Breckinridge) has asked. He says that he, as a representative of the successful party, is here to ascertain the wishes of the business people of New York. There is nothing so injurious to business as uncertainty. He has told us that it was the purpose of his party to set their faces resolutely and antagonistically against the course which the people of this country have pursued for 30 years. I can only answer in the words of a deputy of the French chamber who said that on international questions affecting his country or nationality there was no minority and no majority—that all were Frenchmen—and that we all are Americans.

After Mr. Reid had spoken there were loud cries of "Depew." Mr. Depew responded in a pleasant vein.

BASE BALL MEETING.

The Big Magnates Gather in Chicago

To Devise a Way to Pay Their Debts.

Much Interest Shown as It Will Shape Base Ball for Another Year.

Chicago, Nov. 16.—The annual meeting of the managers of the National base ball league commenced at 11 o'cloke at the Richelieu hotel.

Little more than routine business is to be transacted.

The directors are not particularly chipper, for they still owe some $50,000, and which, moreover, has got to be paid.

This morning the pennant was formally awarded to Boston, and this afternoon the disputes between Pittsburg and Washington and Pittsburg and Cleveland will be taken up.

The former team left the field, and Cleveland left a game unplayed in order to get home in time to play a benefit game.

Each of the teams is liable to a fine of $1,000.

It is given out that the rules will not be tampered with, although a new one may be added putting a check on bunting. The scheme to increase the size of the diamond, giving it four bases beside the plate, will be sat upon.

Later Gossip.

Chicago, Nov. 16.—The signatures of nearly all of the baseball magnates of the country are inscribed on the register of the Richelieu to-day. They are here to attend the annual meeting of the League, and which is the first ever held outside of New York city. The board of directors held a business meeting this morning with closed doors to consider the reports to be presented to the main body, and the regular convention of the league was called to order by President Young in the club room. A number of questions of greater or lesser importance are docketed for consideration, but upon one thing the representatives of all the clubs are agreed and that is that something must be done to bring about a renewal of popular interest in the national game.

The past season was a hard one on the purposes of the managers, although they hope to recoup themselves in some measure next spring.

If some novelty can be introduced into the game that will take a hold on public interest and if the salaries of the players can be cut down to hard pan, the managers figure it out that the coming season might prove a prosperous one.

There is a decided difference of opinion among the delegates regarding the advisability of abolishing the bunt hit. Managers Powers and Conant are decidedly opposed to the suggestion, while President Temple, of Pittsburg, wants the pitcher set back, the flat bats abolished, and all foul bunts classed as strikes.

It is not likely, however, that the conference will take any definite action looking to the introduction of innovations or radical changes, but will refer all suggestions to a committee with instructions to report at the spring meeting. There will be no shaking up of the composition of the different teams, although some exchanges are possible.

OHIO.

Columbus, O., Nov. 16.—The official vote is not yet in. Cleveland will get one elector and perhaps more. The two Taylors are neck and neck with chances favoring the republican.

JACK CHINN SHOT.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 16.—Jack Chinn, the East St. Louis race man, was shot in the mouth yesterday by a policeman. Chinn was drunk and troublesome. He is not fatally wounded.

SLOW BUT SURE,

The Manchester Bribery Case Progresses.

Judge Harmon Makes Two Important Rulings

With Regard to What Was Said and Done

At the Private Meetings Before Manchester Joined

The Combine—Also as to the Use of the Stenographic Report of the Interviews at the Pluto Oil Company's Office.

The Manchester bribery trial continues in common pleas court. The defense is being conducted in an entirely different manner from that of the other cases. The fact that the state expects to introduce new evidence, keeps up public interest and the attendance is larger than ever before. Representative citizens, prominent ministers and members of the bar are regular attendants.

When court convened this morning Mr. Southard resumed his tactics of playing on Witness Swain's memory.

"I will ask you when you testified in the Daly and Gill cases whether you made any statement which Mr. Doner made to Mr. Manchester?"

"I think, to the best of my memory, I did."

"Since your indictment, with whom have you talked?"

"My attorney."

"You have talked with the prosecutor?"

"Yes, sir."

"About what you were to testify?"

"No, sir."

"When did you talk with the prosecutor as to your testimony?"

"It was during the session of the grand jury."

"Did you know that you were going to be indicted?"

"I did not know."

"Then you expected to escape indictment?"

"Well, I did not know."

"Have you talked with any one else?"

"Yes, sir."

"Who?"

"Mr. Tracy."

"Any one else?"

"Harry King, of King & Tracy."

"Any one else?"

"No, sir."

"Have you refused to talk with any one else?"

"Yes, sir."

"Who?"

"Mr. Southard."

"Why did you refuse?"

"Because I thought it was not my duty."

"Why did you refuse to counsel with Mr. Manchester and his attorney?"

"Because my attorney advised against it."

"That's all."

Solicitor Read was next called by the state, and testified as to the municipal organization of Toledo, also as to the administering of the oath of office to Mr. Manchester.

City Clerk Lamb with the city's records next took the stand. He testified as to the introduction of the Pluto Oil company's pipe line ordinance and its progress in the city legislature. He read from the records that on the evening of June 6 Mr. Manchester moved to lay the Pluto ordinance on the table, which carried by the following vote: Daly, Doner, Gill, Manchester, Neuendorf, Schmuhl, Swain, Tanner, Taylor.

On June 20, Doner made a motion to table the ordinance, which prevailed by the following vote: Daly, Doner, Gill, Manchester, Neuendorf, Schmuhl, Swain, Tanner, Taylor and Rutherford.

On July 6, Lee moved to take the ordinance off the table, which was amended by Mr. Manchester to place the ordinance on the schedule for the next regular meeting, which carried by a viva voce vote.

Councilman Felker was next called. He testified to being present at Tanner's office at which were also Doner, Gill, Taylor, Neuendorf, Schmuhl, Tanner, Rutherford and Faskins.

"What was said and done?"

"We object," said Mr. Kinney, "on the ground that the defendant was absent."

Mr. Barber stated that the state should be permitted to show that the state should existed, and to do it it would be necessary to show what was said and done. Also that precisely the same thing took place when Mr. Rutherford was invited to attend, as he did when Mr. Manchester first attended a meeting. That this was corroboration of Mr. Swain's testimony, showing that the combination was reaching out for members of the council to join the organization.

This same objection on the same point was raised yesterday and the evidence ruled out by the court, and the court maintained the same position.

Mr. Barber then passed to the meeting at Fisher's club house. He stated when he went out the following members of the council convened in the summer house: Daly, Doner, Gill, Manchester, Rutherford, Swain, Tanner and Schmuhl.

When he arrived Tanner said that he would tell the new arrival what had transpired. He then stated to Felker that they had just agreed to lay the Robison ordinance on the table unless they put up $1,000 per vote.

Mr. Barber called upon the witness to show Mr. Manchester's location in the summer house, and the tone of voice in which the words were spoken. This was done to show that Mr. Manchester knew what was transpiring.

Mr. Felker continued to state that Gill asked him how he was going to vote on the Pluto Oil ordinance, and that he replied that he was going to vote for the ordinance; that Gill said he was going to vote against it.

The defense took the witness, Mr. Kinney conducting the cross-examination.

"The Fisher club house meeting was the only one you attended?" said Mr. Kinney.

"Yes, sir."

"How large is that summer house?"

"I don't know."

"You say Mr. Manchester was standing at the door talking to some one?"

"Yes, sir."

"Did you say anything to Manchester?"

"I did not."

"Why did Tanner make the statement to you?"

"I do not know."

"How long were you there?"

"About three minutes."

"After Tanner made his statement what else was said?"

"Nothing; I turned around and left."

"Did you notice Manchester when you turned away?"

"I did not."

"Now, as a matter of fact, you are not certain whether Mr. Manchester heard or was paying any attention to what passed between Tanner, Gill and yourself?"

"No, sir, I do not, positively."

George A. Bassett, the stenographer who was concealed in the cellar below the Pluto Oil office on Jefferson street, and took down the interview between Mr. Lorenz and the councilmen, was called. He stated that the first conversation was taken June 21.

Mr. Bassett testified that Councilman Frank Tanner was the first to come to the office.

"What was the first thing Tanner said?" said Mr. Barber.

"We object," said Mr. Kinney, "on the ground that nothing has been introduced to show that Mr. Tanner was agent of the defendant."

"There must be evidence enough to show a combination and that the defendant was connected with it," said the court. "This tends to show a solicitation by Tanner for this combination, and I think enough evidence has been introduced as to the existence of a combination to go to the jury. The objection is overruled."

Mr. Kinney objected to the use of a transcript of the notes, on the ground that the witness was in possession of the original memoranda and should be compelled to use that.

An hour was consumed in discussion of the point, and in conclusion the court overruled the objection.

The court then stated to the jury that this testimony was introduced to show a solicitation, but could not be charged against the defendant unless evidence showed a conspiracy in existence; that defendant was a member of it, and the solicitation was in pursuance of the object of this conspiracy.

Mr. Bassett then proceeded to read from the transcript the interview between Mr. Lorenz and the councilman.

Mr. Tanner was the first visitor, and made the statement that the boys would pass the ordinance for $5,500 "long green" and not a cent less. That there was a combination on, and it would be impossible to get the ordinance through unless that organization said so. Daly and Gill came in, and the transcript shows that their conversation corroborates the statements of Tanner.

When court adjourned at noon Mr. Bassett was still on the stand.

Yesterday Afternoon's Testimony.

When the Bee went to press yesterday afternoon Mr. Swain was testifying on direct examination. He was telling of the meeting at which Mr. Manchester was present and what Mr. Doner was explaining as the objects of the meetings; that certain corporations had expressed a willingness to pay for certain legislation. To this Mr. Manchester stated that if they were going to charge for their votes it was pretty risky business, and he did not feed as though he wanted to have anything to do without first being fully assured that their actions would never be made public. At this meeting it was resolved to charge the Northwestern Ohio Natural Gas company $22,000 for the passage of the gas ordinance. The witness testified that at this meeting he had stated that he was going to vote for the Monroe street pavement. The price for the passage of the Pluto ordinance was fixed at $5,500 at this meeting. The witness further testified that the object of the meeting was thoroughly explained to Mr. Manchester, and he expressed a willingness to become a member; that Mr. Manchester stated that he would have nothing to do with any scheme by which money was taken from the taxpayers.

At the meeting at Taylor's store Mr. Taylor failed to come down, so they went to Mr. Rutherford's store. Witness was not positive as to Mr. Manchester's presence. There were present Daly, Doner, Rutherford, Swain and Schmidt.

Mr. Barber then inquired as to what was said and done at the first meeting held at Neuendorf's store.

The defense objected, on the ground of the absence of the defendant.

The court ruled that any act or word of the combination before and after he becomes a member can be used as evidence against the defendant, but that what was said and done by the combination before the defendant connected himself with it could not be charged against the defendant in pursuance of the organization of the combination. He was charged with enforcing the objects of the combination.

The objection was sustained.

Prosecutor Barber then passed to the club house meeting and what transpired. Then to the last meeting at Neuendorf's store, when Tanner made the statement that the Pluto Oil officials had prepared a room and trap in the floor, placed a stenographer in the cellar, invited the members of the combination, took down what was said, and unless the ordinance was passed the evidence would be turned over to the prosecutor. He gave it out that he would no longer have anything to do with the combination.

This ended the direct examination.

"Mr. Swain, are you a willing witness in this case?" was Mr. Southard's first question.

"No, sir."

"Did you volunteer to testify in the case?"

"Yes, sir."

"Why did you volunteer if you are not a willing witness?"

"For the protection of myself and family."

"What protection?"

"If possible, by making a statement of facts in the case—I might influence the court in such a way that I would not be called to stand trial."

"Do you expect to plead guilty?"

"I think I have virtually pleaded guilty already."

"I did not ask you what you had done."

"Yes, sir, I expect to plead guilty."

"Do you expect to avoid punishment?"

"Judge, must I answer that question?"

"I think you should, Mr. Swain."

"Yes, sir."

"Have you a good memory?"

"Yes, sir."

"How many meetings have you attended at which more or less people were present about which you testify?"

"Seven or eight."

Mr. Southard then put questions testing the memory of the witness with regard to his statements as to what was said by each of the different members present at seven or eight meetings held.

"When did you hear of the Pluto ordinance first?"

"Evening of May 23d, at a council meeting. I introduced it."

"What did Mr. Doner say at that meeting?"

"I don't remember."

"Then how does it come that you can remember what he said at your private meetings and not what was said at this public meeting?"

"Because I paid more attention to what was said at the private meetings."

Mr. Southard put about the same questions as to Mr. Manchester. He did not remember how Mr. Manchester voted on the ordinance that night, nor what he said.

"Do you remember a motion made by Mr. Manchester to table the ordinance?"

"Yes, sir."

"When was that?"

"After it had been passed by the aldermen."

"Well, could it get back to the council before the expiration of four weeks?"

"Yes, sir, in two weeks."

"Well now, do you remember whether this meeting at which Mr. Manchester was present was held before or after he moved to lay the ordinance on the table?"

"Did you ever hear Mr. Manchester speak in favor of the passage of the ordinance?"

"I did."

"When and where?"

"At Fisher's club house."

"What did he say and to whom did he say it?"

"I do not think he did say anything for or against the ordinance."

"Then why did you say he did?"

"Well, I made a misstatement and wish to withdraw it."

"You should be a little careful and remember Mr. Manchester is on trial. Did you, now, ever hear Mr. Manchester speak in favor of this ordinance?"

"I did not."

Mr. Southard then endeavored to bring out what committee meetings were held on the evening of the first meeting of the combine, at which Mr. Manchester was present, but the witness did not remember when it was held, who were present or when the members arrived. He did not remember whether it was council meeting or committee night.

"Then how does it come that you cannot remember these points as to the regular meetings, but can remember who were present and all of the minor details of these all-important meetings held on Summit street?"

"Because these were of more importance to me."

"Were you at the Neuendorf store for the purpose of soliciting bribes for your vote?"

"No, sir. I do not consider that I was."

"Do you remember who made the first statement at that meeting?"

"Doner explained the objects of the meetings to Manchester."

The defense then skirmished some more on Mr. Swain's testimony.

"Did anybody state that it would not be right to take money for the use of the councilmen?"

"Yes, sir, I think there was a statement made of that kind."

"Who made it?"

"Mr. Manchester."

"Did any one else make such a statement?"

"I don't think they did."

"Didn't you?"

"I did not."

"Why didn't you?"

"Well, I don't know."

"Did you think it was right to accept money for any other purpose?"

The court interfered, stating that Mr. Swain was not on trial. The question was withdrawn.

Adjournment was taken until 9 o'clock this morning.

BEAVER FALLS.

Carnegie Getting Non-Union Recruits.

The Presence of National Officers, However, Stiffens Up the Union Men.

Beaver Falls, Pa., Nov. 16.—Yesterday's meeting of the advisory board, together with the presence of the national officers of the strikers' organization, has had the effect of strengthening the faith of the wavering, and to-day the feeling is intense.

Every train brings new recruits to the forces of the Carnegie company—20 arriving this morning. Large numbers of strikers are standing on the street corners. No violence is offered, but there are mutterings, plainly indicating the feeling among the men.

The city officials and business men are giving the company all possible aid, and there is a feeling of confidence and almost rejoicing among them at the prospect of the mills resuming next week.

J. W. Broom, of the advisory board, said this morning: "The locked-out men will stand firm. I cannot say what the outcome will be. We are looking on and waiting. The company is putting in a few laborers at the works."

The strikers closely watch all incoming trains and the new arrivals are importuned, but so far without apparent effect.

SOCIAL EXCITEMENT

Caused by a Scandal in St. Louis.

A Prominent Couple Before the People in an Unenviable Light.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 16.—The bon ton society of the west end is greatly agitated over developments concerning the matrimonial relations of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Comfort, prominent society people of this city.

Mr. Comfort has left his house at No. 3909 Westminster Place and taken up his residence at 3732 Olive street with his mother, while Mrs. Comfort continues to reside in the Westminster Place house.

The cause of the separation is said to be a prominent ex-confederate officer and a New York doctor, Mr. Comfort claiming to have in his possession documentary evidence implicating his wife in the scandal.

Close friends of Mr. Comfort say Mrs. Comfort would bring suit for divorce on the ground of desertion, which her husband would let go by default, so as not to cause notoriety.

Mr. Comfort was at one time vice president of the city council and but recently resigned from the colonelcy of the First Regiment, N. G. M.

He is a member of the Comfort-Henry Ice company and of the firm of C. D. Comfort & Co., manufacturers of overalls, and is reported to be largely interested in the Madison race track.

Mrs. Comfort has heretofore held a prominent place in society of this city. They were married ten years ago.

COULD NOT STOP.

A Bad Collision on the Fort Wayne Road.

The Air Brakes Failed to Work and a Horrible Disaster Followed.

Nevada, O., Nov. 16.—(Special)—The limited mail, west bound, ran into the rear of a freight on the Pittsburg, Ft. Wayne & Chicago last night.

The mail train was ordered to stop here, but could not as the air brakes would not work.

A tramp named Pat Hanley was killed. He received ghastly wounds on the head and the flesh of his right leg was completely torn off.

Engineer Durnell had his right leg cut badly, and Brakeman Kutsch was internally injured.

The debris is cleared away and trains are now in running order.

ATTACHMENT.

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 16.—The Robinson & Stokes company's overall factory was to-day attached by creditors for $45,000. The heaviest creditors say the company will no doubt be able to resume.

AN OPEN LETTER.

Two Well Known Physicians Address the Public.

Lax Medical Laws Enable Fakirs to Fleece People—A Direct Personal Statement of Interest to Everybody.

To Our Friends and the Public:

Since locating in this city, we have learned from our patients and from others with whom we have conversed, that the people of the city of Toledo have suffered terribly at the hands of quacks and impostors, medical frauds and teamps who have infested the city.

Under the lax medical laws of Ohio, almost any kind of quackery can be carried on, and so much of it has been done that it is not at all surprising that the people of this city should hesitate before entrusting their cases to doctors who advertise in the papers.

There is this to be remembered, however. It must not be considered that because a doctor advertises he is to be classed with quacks and frauds. There is a wide distinction between advertising doctors and doctors who advertise. Among the latter class are some of the best men in the country. Among the former are the frauds, fakes, humbugs and charlatans who operate under a respectable guise to deceive, rob and commit crime.

There is a class of men in every community who advertise themselves as specialists. They were not specialists before they advertised. We respectfully refer the public to our credentials which are printed below. Further than this we will not go, as we believe too much in the intelligence of the people to assume that puffing or self laudation will weigh more than careful, conscientious work.

We are here as gentlemen and physicians to practice medicine, to treat all diseases. Our rates are $5 a month for service and medicines. We have located in Toledo to remain. We want every man, woman and child in this community, who is suffering from any disease whatever, to know that they can save money by taking treatment with us. If anyone who is being treated for a chronic disease is paying more money than this, he is wasting the surplus over $5 a month.

Our record is an open book, our credentials can be inspected at our offices, and our ability is attested by the cures that we perform. We respectfully solicit the patronage of the people of Toledo.

W. C. BYERS, M. D.
WILLIAM DOUGAN, M. D.

For a month past, Drs. Byers and Dougan have been treating a large number of patients free of cost. This was done for the purpose of demonstrating to all who cared to test them what they could do. A great many doctors advertise, but very few of them carry out the letter of their promise. It is one thing to advertise and another to cure. Drs. Byers and Dougan do not guarantee a cure, but they promise to cure every case that is curable. Each physician has had a wide experience in the treatment of chronic diseases. Each is a competent, skilled, able man. They refer to testimonials given by grateful patients to show what they can do, and they are anxious to undertake to treat those who have failed to obtain relief from other physicians.

The free treatment period has expired. Henceforward the price for medical treatment at the hands of these physicians will be $5 a month for all diseases. Medicines are furnished free. Remember, therefore, that you can get the best medical service at the least cost from Drs. Byers and Dougan for any disease whatever, at Five Dollars a Month.

Their Credentials

Drs. Byers & Dougan ask that their credentials and claims be thoroughly examined and investigated. Dr. Byers is a graduate of the Jefferson Medical College of Philadelphia, Pa., 1872, and has had 20 years active experience in diseases of the eye, ear, nose, throat and lungs. Dr. Dougan is a graduate of the Buffalo Medical College, and also of McGill University of Montreal, Canada, and holds both Canadian and United States qualifications. Dr. Dougan has had 25 years experience in treating chronic diseases of the lungs, stomach, heart, liver, kidneys, bladder, rectum, diseases of women, etc., etc.

GOETHE'S VISIT TO CARLSBAD.

His Life Greatly Prolonged.

There is no doubt that the life of the great poet was greatly prolonged by drinking the waters of the Sprudel Spring. In our day we have the Sprudel Spring brought to us in the form of Salt, which is obtained by evaporation from the waters of Carlsbad.

The Natural Carlsbad Sprudel Salt is in no sense a mere purgative, but is an alterative and eliminative remedy which dissolves tenacious bile, allays irritation and removes obstructions by aiding nature. It acts soothingly and without pain, and is, therefore, far superior than pills, purgatives and other remedies. The genuine has the signature of EISNER & MENDELSON CO., Sole Agents, New York, on every bottle.

THE KNIGHTS OF LABOR

Annual Meeting Being Held in St. Louis.

Address of Commander T. V. Powderly.

The State of the Order as Shown by Report of the General Secretary.

St. Louis, Nov. 16.—At to-day's session of the general assembly of the Knights of Labor the annual report of General Secretary-Treasurer John W. Hayes was presented. It showed that at the time of the last general assembly there was a balance on hand of $6,263, and that the receipts from all sources during the year had amounted to $54,350, or a total of $60,614. The expenditures had reached a total of $59,794, so that only $865 remained in the treasury at the close of the fiscal year on June 30.

Of the total receipts $29,000 represented the amount of the per capita tax contributed by the various assemblies to maintain the operations of the order. In reporting upon the condition of the benefit insurance association, General Treasurer Hayes expressed his regret that the exhibit was not as favorable as those that had preceded it. It had been expected that the members of the order would have shown their appreciation of its advantages and availed themselves of its privileges, and the number of policy holders would have been increased and the institution placed upon a sound financial basis. This, however, had not been due to inactivity or want of interest on the part of the insured.

Suspensions, lapses and deaths had more than decimated the ranks with the result that to-day the insurance branch is limited to but a few localities, and the policy holders were at present apparently making no effort to push it among their fellow members. The report appended to the statement shows that the highest amount collected in the way of assessments for the beneficiaries of members dying during the year was $395.

The report of the general executive board of the Knights of Labor refers to a suit which the order has been for some years defending in the courts. It was brought by William Whitty, of Amsterdam, N. Y., to recover $817.13, the value of goods claimed to have been furnished by him to strikers in the great textile strike of 1886. The board did not believe the goods had been furnished, at least not by the authority of any one who had authority to order them. A little over a year ago Whitty obtained a verdict for his claim and costs, but the board appealed and on a new trial secured a non-suit. The report declares that the suit was a part of a conspiracy by enemies of the order to injure it by crippling it financially, and suggests that had the suit gone against the order a number of similar unjust claims would have been made.

The famous Rochester clothing boycott is made the subject of an extended reference. It is claimed that millions of dollars of trade has been taken from the clothing combine, and that the only hope the manufacturers have of averting a crushing defeat is by getting the assistance of some so-called labor organization which their money may be able to secure. The board acknowledges with thanks the assistance of other labor organizations in the fight with the Rochester clothing barons. Special mention is made in this connection of the farmers' organizations, and of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen. It is urged that the incoming general executive board be instructed to press the fight with the combine on the same lines, in the assurance that a brilliant and substantial victory will be won. The case of the conviction of Master Workman Hughes, of the Garment Workers' National assembly, is commented upon in terms which reflect somewhat severely upon the administration of justice in Rochester.

It is declared to be a misuse of words to call the prosecution a trial. There was no trial, says the report. By an outrageous abuse of the power of the state the jury was packed. Men were placed upon the panel who admitted that they were prejudiced against the accused and against all members of labor organizations, and who declared that they would look upon a strike or boycott by a labor organization as a crime, but upon a lockout or case of blacklisting by an employer as a perfectly proper exercise of his rights.

Yet seven of this jury, a majority, were in favor of acquittal when they were allowed to go to their hotel for their meal. What "arguments" were brought to bear upon them between the time of leaving the court room and their return may never be known, but that they were potent enough to bring them to see matters as the combine wanted them seen is known.

It is stated that the president of the combine admitted that if a new trial was granted it would be impossible to find another jury that would convict. The board does not comment upon the action of Gov. Flower, of New York, in refusing a pardon to Hughes on the ground that it would be assumed that he granted it for political purposes, contenting itself with a bare statement of the facts.

It declares, however, that the history of the case, taken in connection with recent actions and pronouncements by other courts, discloses a grave danger to organized labor and threatens the right of the workers to organize for their own protection. It may be necessary, the board says, to meet this danger and provide against it by changes in the methods of the order's organization.

It behooves the order to declare, in words that will admit of no double meaning, that as the founders of the republic would not allow their liberties to be withheld by a king, so the workmen of to-day will not allow theirs to be taken away by the legislation of corrupted congresses or legislatures, nor by court-made laws.

A brief history of the dispute of the order with the world's fair management is given, and the terms of the settlement are outlined. The reference to this matter is thus concluded: "The result of the contest with the management of the exposition is especially gratifying, as, while securing justice to the workingmen directly concerned and obtaining a valuable recognition of organized labor, it has demonstrated the efficiency of such an organization as ours in dealing with matters of national scope and importance.

There is a proposal emanating from the Baltimore district to sell the headquarters at Philadelphia and move the general office to Washington. The board declines to give any advice upon this subject, but has prepared a statement if the cost of maintaining the present headquarters to help the delegates to deal intelligently with the proposition.

One assembly urges the order to obtain one or more tracts of land, so as to be able to locate such members as desire to secure homes. The board, referring to this, suggests that the general assembly should consider whether it would not be advisable to organize a homestead association, modelled after some of the more successful of such institutions already established.

The annual address of General Master Workman Powderly to the sixteenth general assembly of the Knights of Labor was extremely lengthy, occupying over an hour in its delivery. He congratulated his hearers upon the present condition of the order, reviewed its many periods of prosperity and depression, and said that although since its existence the membership of the order had ebbed and flowed, yet to-day it was on the increase, and all through the exciting times incident to the presidential election the order had steadily grown in membership and influence. At no time, however, had the membership exceeded 600,000 in good standing. Reviewing the labor movement, Mr. Powderly said that there are too many labor organizations struggling for supremacy. Callings that, up to a short time ago, were not known to the general public, are now known under the name of some national or international association. The tendency of the labor movement seemed to be to divide up, while that of the opposing force—capital—was to consolidate and thereby to gain strength to combat the force of industry, when, single-handed, they were arrayed before them.

Every prominent member of a labor organization, who, for some reason or other, had taken offense at something done, or who entertained an idea that his plan was the best, set about organizing a new society of labor.

The only result was division of strength, isolation, and final death. These were not palatable truths, but they were truths, and something should be done to remedy the evil. The crying need of the hour was an organization in which every interest might be cared for, and in which all might meet on common ground. After speaking at length on the question of ballot reform, and on the initiative and refunding scheme, and urging that the general assembly take specific action on both questions,

Mr. Powderly proceeded to dwell in detail on the matter of immigration. He said that six years ago he had declared in favor of the restriction of immigration, and although his views were not received with favor by the order he had not changed them, but on the contrary had made them more rigid.

He believed in the total exclusion of all immigrants who are not self-supporting on landing in this country. There should be a fixed term of years, ten would be enough, during which no immigrant should be permitted to land with a view of remaining, unless he could prove that he had sufficient means to sustain himself and those depending upon him for one year.

Unworthy motives might be attributed to him because of these sentiments, but they were honestly entertained, and no reflections would induce him to change his mind, for he foresaw danger, not alone to labor, but to the whole country, if the immigration was not heroically handled in the near future. There was great danger that in the Babel of tongues we might forget that we are free men in this country, and in losing sight of that fact might allow the incoming hordes to Europeanize us before we could Americanize them. Hundreds of thousands of foreigners were thrust upon this country every year, some allured by misrepresentation, and others sent direct from the penitentiaries and prisons of the old world, while still others were hired on the other side of the water by those who would lower the standard of wages in this country. It is not to the interest of the immigrant to land here without money, without friends, without any knowledge of the conditions he must face in his struggle for bread. It was not because he could not earn a livelihood in his own land that the foreigner came here, but because the institution of greed are of older growth across the water and have taken deeper root.

There are as productive industries in Europe as in this land. The men born there were just as good as we are. They have the same natural right to the soil they were born on as we have to the soil of America. It was their right and their duty to remain on that soil, redeem it from the twin evils of landlordism and kingcraft, and take the fruits of the earth for themselves and their families, instead of fleeing from their own homes to a land where they stand in doubles at every point at which the stroke of a hammer or pick is required.

The rapacity of the employers of labor, the greed of the owners of steamships, and the moral cowardice of our public men had prevented the enactment of legislation which would have long since relieved the strain.

They could better afford to aid the European in crushing down the institutions which oppress him at home than to continue a system which will inevitably reduce the American workmen to worse conditions than those experienced abroad by those who are now looking to this land for relief. He asked the general assembly what it would do on the question of immigration.

Strikes and lockouts next claimed Mr. Powderly's attention. He said that during the last six months the people of this land had witnessed such attempts at making the power of aggregated wealth supreme as were never dreamt of before.

Whether it was at Coeur d' Alene, at Homestead, at Buffalo, or in Tennesse, the instinct which guided the rapacious hand was the same. Underground wires which directed these attacks all ran to the same center from all these places.

Centralized wealth drew the scattering fire of divided labor, and as a natural result labor lost in each battle. If the lessons are carefully taken to heart the sacrifices may not be in vain.

The mines of Tennessee were made by the Almighty God. He gave no deed nor warrant to men to take absolute possession of them that they might levy tribute on all others, and make unhung murderers, violators of virtue and convicted burglars the instruments through which this coal should reach the people.

The great highway that runs from Buffalo to New York sends its etrangers across the ocean to pay foreign stockholders who violate American law.

The great seething mills of Homestead could never turn out an ingot of steel, were it not for the skill and labor of the workmen. The ingenuity, energy and industry of workmen made it possible for the great anthracite coal trust to levy tribute on the American people, but the reward does not find its way into the homes of the workmen.

It is absorbed by those who are keen and shrewd enough to break the law so skillfully as to escape detection, conviction and punishment. The organization of labor will, if it has sense, take up these questions for consideration. The railroads are public highways; they belong to the people, and the whole people should know it.

They are public highways, but private individuals direct, control and manage them for private gain at the expense of the public. The campaign which has just closed witnessed an interesting, if not very intelligent, discussion of the tariff, but there is more of a revenue illegally drawn from the pockets of merchants, manufacturers and workmen in one month of the year by the railroads and telegraphs than we pay in tariffs in a year.

These, and all questions connected with them, must occupy the attention of the industrial organization of the future, and the strike of the future must be a strike for the rule of the people. They could decry politics as they pleased, but they must be politicians or be slaves of politicians.

They might deny responsibilities as citizens, but they are piling high the wrath which follows neglect of duty. In a word they must be law-makers or law-breakers. When, in the last extremity, they are driven close to the wall and deprived of right and privilege, it is done through the law. If the law is obscure or defective, a hireling judge can always be found to construe in favor of the wealthy and against the poor. If every citizen of Pennsylvania understood and knew his rights, if he performed his duty under the law intelligently, and as he ought to, no judge would dare to charge treason against workmen who struggled for recognition.

The battle of the future might be fought out on different lines from those which have marked the shifting progress of the past. These lines must diverge from and enter at the ballot box, not as slaves to a party, bent on obeying the will of a boss or master, but as free men, who valued freedom and would maintain it, should vote.

Every devilish instrumentality which now aids in oppressing the people had its seed time and harvest in the ballot box, and they would die for want of care and nourishment did the plain people but do their duty in guarding that institution.

He asked the assembly to act on the matter. He had no advice to offer.

It was best that they act free from his counsel and on their own knowledge of the situation. In concluding his address, Mr. Powderly said that the order should make an effort to get closer to the other industrial association, and recommended that hereafter the general assembly should meet at the same place and time chosen by the Farmers' alliance. He also favored the adoption of a social or beneficial feature of the order. He recommended a dissolution of the alliance with the Miners' Progressive association on the ground that the latter had not lived up to its pledges, and that, as a matter of fact the knights had suffered greatly by the alliance. The salient features of the message were received with prolonged applause from the delegates, and the different subjects treated of were referred to special committees for appropriate action.

YOUNG DUNCAN'S FORGERIES.

Bucyrus, O., Nov. 16.—When J. W. Duncan was brought here from Toledo to answer the charge of forgery preferred against him by Fred Berry, he waived examination, and was sent to jail until he could secure a witness in the form of his indulgent papa.

The father of the young man arrived and at once settled the claim of Fred Berry for $250, and young Duncan would have been released but for the fact that Detective Jack Reeves, of Cleveland, came in with a charge against the gay boy for having forged a $200 check in the Forest City.

Duncan's father is endeavoring to fix that up, and hopes to have the young man released. He is still in jail.

NATIONAL CONFERENCE

Of the Association of Catholic Bishops.

An Important Meeting Being Held in the City of New York.

New York, Nov. 16.—The national conference of Catholic archbishops, convened in compliance with the circular issued some months ago by his holiness the pope, and which in its results may prove to be one of the most important gatherings of ecclesiastics ever held in this city, opened this morning at the residence of Archbishop Corrigan, adjacent to the Cathedral on Fifth avenue.

As a prelude to the proceedings proper the prelates participated in the celebration of solemn high mass in Archbishop Corrigan's private chapel.

It was 11 o'clock when the 13 archbishops assembled in the library of the archepiscopal residence. Cardinal Gibbons, both as Archbishop of Baltimore and as ecclesiastic successor of the oldest Catholic See in this country, was chosen to preside, and Mgr. O'Connel, rector of the American college in Rome, was chosen as secretary.

The remaining participants were Archbishops Williams, of Boston; Feehan, of Chicago; Elder, of Cincinnati; Kaczer, of Milwaukee; Janssens, of New Orleans; Corrigan, of New York; Gross, of Oregon City; Ireland, of St. Paul; Riordan, of San Francisco; Ryan, of Philadelphia, and Salpointe, of Santa Fe. Archbishop Satolli, of Rome, the papal legate now visiting his country, was also present as the special representative of the Holy See. He is the only one of the number that is not an American, and that cannot speak the English language, and accordingly it was decided to conduct the proceedings in Latin.

The conference will be in session for several days, and its deliberations will be surrounded with great secrecy.

It is known, however, that one of the subjects to be considered is the most feasible method of increasing the efficiency and membership of the parochial schools, and in this connection the precise position of the Holy See in regard to the Faribault plan, which has been so earnestly championed by Archbishop Ireland and his large following, and as bitterly opposed by Archbishop Corrigan and the Jesuit element in the church will be expounded by Mgr. Satolli, one of whose missions is to bring about peace between the two factions.

The attitude of the church toward secret societies will engage the attention of the conference, and so also will the McGlynn case.

RED MEN.

A New Tribe Instituted in Whitehouse, Ohio.

Whitehouse, O., Nov. 16.—(Special)—Otsego tribe, No. 148, Improved Order of Red men, was instituted here last Wednesday, with a charter membership of 52, by Great Sachem Enos Peirson, of Wooster, O. The following are the elected officers of the new tribe:

Prophet—Chas. M. King.
Sachem—Jno. F. Lehman.
Senior Sagamore—Fred Koldy.
Junior Sagamore—J. C. Meyers.
Chief of Records—Sylvester Strold.
Keeper of Wampum—Chas. B. Demuth.

The new tribe starts with bright prospects and bids fair to become one of the largest and most thrifty tribes in northwestern Ohio.

The democrats here are making preparations for a jollification and barbecue in the near future.

C. W. Ryan and C. M. King won several good election bets on Cleveland.

L. W. Goodman returned from his trip up "Salt River" Monday.

BRYAN.

Notes of General Interest from Williams County.

Bryan, O., Nov. 16.—(Special)—James McClure was down from Edgerton yesterday.

J. H. Letcher was in Toledo yesterday on business.

The marriage of Mr. Cady Swift and Miss Anna Stock was celebrated at the home of the groom's parents here last night in the presence of only a few friends by Rev. E. D. Jacobs. Miss Stock is from Toledo. Mr. S. holds a lucrative position in Toledo at present.

Geo. W. Curtis was over from Montpelier yesterday.

C. E. Baxter is over from Detroit.

The Bryan band will give a concert here on the evening of November 24.

Elmer Buskirk, who was stabbed in a saloon the other night, may not recover. Yesterday the physicians said the patient was resting comfortably well, but what would develop in the next few days he was not able to say.

FRANK GARVIN'S TRIAL.

The Case of the Young Newspaper Man Who Killed His Wife.

Pittsburg, Nov. 16.—The taking of testimony in the trial of Frank Garvin, the young newspaper artist who killed his wife, Cora Redpath Garvin, of Chicago, the third day after their marriage, was concluded and the case went to the jury to-day.

A BLOW TO A RAILROAD.

Columbus, O., Nov. 16.—Attorney General Richards has submitted a decision which will affect the proposed electric railroad from St. Mary's to Cincinnati. The company proposed to run the line along the Miami and Erie Canal, using the tow path, which would be leased from the state. In the attorney general's opinion this canal land is of undisputed title, and since it is not newly discovered land, it cannot be leased. This will greatly alter the course of the road.

A LAWYER SUICIDES.

Wooster, Nov. 16.—Nelson Ferrell, an attorney of Orrville, suicided in his office by shooting himself in the head. He had been drinking heavily and on Saturday got into trouble by driving a horse to death. Worry over this, coupled with the effects of drink, made him despondent, and on Monday he was around town trying to borrow a revolver and bidding his friends farewell. He was a widower and leaves a highly respected family.

A LARGE AUDIENCE

Witnesses a Poor Show at Wheeler's.

Gunthers Novels Are Murdered in Toledo—Change of Bill at the People's—Coming Attracations.

Those who witnessed the performance of Mr. Potter, of Texas, last evening at Wheeler's—and it was a goodly number—noticed that Miss Frankie McLewee, who played Ida Potter, was a bit amateurish. Their senses did not fail them. Miss McLewee is new to the stage. She is none other than Miss Frankie Bailey, of Cincinnati, for many years one of the most popular society belles in the Queen City.

It became necessary for her to earn her own living, and she took to the stage. She may succeed, but she has much to learn. She has something in her favor, she is stately, shapely, and knows how to dress herself becomingly, for which virtue the ladies will forgive many missing ones.

On the whole Mr. Potter, of Texas was a disappointment. Gunther's books were good, but from the manner in which dramatization of them are put on in Toledo no one would discover it. Mr. Barnes of New York was murdered here, and Mr. Potter almost lost his reputation.

It can be summed up as follows: Harry Bradley as Mr. Potter and Josephine Loane as Lady Annerly, good; Geo. Githens as Van Cott, fair; J. B. Atwill as Bracket, so-so; the rest not good, not too bad, but bad enough.

If No. 1 company would represent good; No. 2 fair; No. 3 poor, and so on, last evening's performance by most of the company would be rated as No 6, or thereabouts. The heroic lovers were far from heroic. They wore "Prince Albert" coats and wore them unbottoned like the gay boy at a cheap dance. There were many things in the performance that were inartistic. It was good enough for very small towns, but for what is called a first-class house at stiff prices it was an imposition.

Mr. Rice This Evening.

This evening John C. Rice will sing and dance the audience into good humor at Wheeler's. His new comedy A Knotty Affair, is said to be very funny. A bit of the performance is the atmospheric dance something entirely new in the terpischorean line. Sally Cohen and W. H. Sloan are with the company. Miss Addie Barrett Boos, the celebrated cornetist, will also appear each evening.

The Kid Coming.

Friday evening The Kid, a brilliant creation in the musical comedy line, will be presented for the first time in this city at Wheeler's, with Miss Dottie Pine as the Kid herself. The piece made a big hit in the east and the company is said to be a strong one.

Change of Bill.

Ullie Ackerstrom is delighting the audiences at the People's. Friday and Saturday evenings she will play her newest piece, A Little Busybody. Incidental to the play there will be dances by Miss Akerstrom, songs by Mr. Powers and the Mirror Quartette and specialties by John E. Brennon, who is the comedy hit of the show.

CARLGIE'S CASES

Will Occupy the Time of the Court.

Many Complicated Trials Will Be Ventilated Before the Judges.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 16.—From now on, and for several months, the entire time of the criminal court is likely to be occupied with the trials of the ex-employes of Carnegie's works at Homestead, and who are under indictment on charges of murder, treason, aggravated conspiracy and riot.

The initial case, that of Sylvester Critchlow, who is charged with the murder of C. Connors, one of the Pinkerton detectives shot down on the barge in the memorable conflict, is on the docket for trial to-day, and the impaneling of a jury will commence after lunch, the court being occupied this morning in hearing motions relating to other cases.

After a verdict has been reached in Critchlow's case, Jack Clifford will be put on trial under the same indictment, and, according to the present program of the state's attorney, Hugh O'Donnel, chairman of the advisory board, and the head and front of the strike, will be placed in the dock.

Altogether there are nearly forty of the mill men to be placed on trial for their lives or their liberty. Special counsel has been retained by the Carnegie company to assist the state's attorney.

NO EXTRA SESSION.

Such Is the Report From the East.

Not Believed That Congress Will Be Convened Until the Regular Time.

New York, Nov. 16.—The Sun this morning says: The Sun is permitted to announce authoritatively this morning that it is the present determination of ex-President Cleveland not to call an extraordinary session of congress after his inauguration on March 4 next.

It is further announced that in the estimation at present of Mr. Cleveland's closest friends an extra session would turn out to be a profitless proceeding. His friends say that Mr. Cleveland must have time after his inauguration to look over the ground. There is a natural objection also to the reassembling of congress immediately after the inauguration on the ground that it would have more or less of an unsettling influence on the business of the country.

Another objection to an extraordinary session in the minds of Mr. Cleveland's friends is that the republican party and its allies have demonstrated altogether too eager a desire that Mr. Cleveland should call an extraordinary session. It is not customary for a new administration to accept counsel from the enemy. But stronger than anything else is the feeling that an extraordinary session could be of no particular advantage, and that the proper thing to do is to give Mr. Cleveland and the democratic leaders time to look around and determine just what course to pursue.

LADIES, PERMIT US TO CALL YOUR ATTENTION TO

The Household Jewel!

As an Egg Beater, Cream Whipper, Cake Beater, etc., the Jewel has no equal. As a Drink Mixer of any kind it cannot be excelled. As an Ice Cream Freezer it surpasses anything of the kind in the market. The following are some of the essential points of superiority the Jewel has over all other Beaters:

1st—The whippers are made of spring steel tinned wires, the very best for beating purposes.

2d—The wires revolving with double action produce greater beating power, quicker motion and bring the eggs or parts to be beaten directly in contact with the wires besides holding a single egg in a narrow space the same as being beaten in a small bowl.

3d—As an ice cream freezer it is a little gem; place in a pail, pack ice around it, beat thoroughly until it starts to freezing, then let it stand until frozen solid. Cream when freezing does no expand like water, therefore it does not break the jar.

4th—Take the white of a fresh egg and in forty seconds you can beat it so you can turn the jar upside down.

5th—It can also be used as a measure and is marked as follows: 1 pint, 1 1-2 pints, 1 quart, 1 1-2 quarts, 2 quarts; also takes the place of scales in weighing sugar, flour, etc.

6th—It excels all stationary beaters, as it can be moved to any part of the kitchen, used on the table, or a lady can use same as a coffee mill on the lap.

7th—The Jewel is the only beater with a tight fitting cover which prevents the most objectionable feature with all other egg beaters, namely: spattering and allowing dirt or flies to get into the batter. For mixing lemonade, milk shake or any other drink it is perfect. PRICE $1 EACH.

Ran Into a Switch.

The street railway companies have the open switch and its damaging results to contend with, just the same as regular railroads. A Robison motor yesterday afternoon ran into a switch left open at the intersection of Monroe and Summit streets and knocked the rear platform off a Consolidated car which was just getting out of reach.

Mrs. Andrews Guilty.

The jury in the case of Mrs. Henrietta Andrews came in yesterday afternoon after being out only a short time. They found her guilty of keeping a house of assignation at the corner of Oak and Huron streets. A motion was made that the verdict be set aside and a new trial granted. Pending the filing of exceptions bail was continued at $100.

The Toledoans expect a big time. They will camp out and take along their own cooks.

A Splendid Concert.

The concert given last evening at St. John's M. E. church was largely attended, and every number on the well-rendered program was heartily encored. The participants were the Broadway quartet, Mr. Frank Stark, Mrs. Lottie Wright, Miss Elsie White, Mrs. L. S. Churchill, Mr. John Maddy, V. E. Lott, Miss Grace Bethards, Dr. L. T. Canfield, and Miss Flora Van Gorder.

Fine Weather.

The storm centers moved on the northeastern states as predicted yesterday, and to-day the country east of Buffalo had heavy rains and winds. West of that the temperature just about equalized, rising where low and falling where high, till it came to normal conditions. From Northern Ohio south into Tennessee there is a belt of fair weather, likely to continue for a day or two at least.

They Must Stay in Jail.

In the applications of Hiram McKnight, of Wood county, and George P. Haskell, of Lucas county, for a writ of habeas corpus to release them from the Ohio penitentiary, where they claim they are being unlawfully detained for forgery, Judge Taft, in the United States court at Cincinnati, has denied the writ on the grounds that the application did not show that the proceedings in the lower court were null and void. The writs were filed in Columbus.

Mr Page Discharged.

W. B. Page, secretary of the Albion Stone company of Cleveland, was tried in police court here yesterday afternoon on the charge of grand larceny. It seems Mr. Page was engaged in hauling away some ten cords of stone claimed by the Claflin Paving Co. and John R. Miller. The stone had been rejected for paving purposes, and both parties claimed it. The court did not find Mr. Page guilty and he was discharged.

Street Car Workers.

The electric street car workers last night initiated three candidates and received four applications for membership. The committee that called on Mr. Lang, of the Consolidated, in regard to re-arrangement of working hours and wages, reported upon the conference and their satisfaction with the manner in which they were received. The union adjourned for two weeks to allow the members to attend the open meeting of the Central Labor union in Memorial hall next Tuesday night.

Lime Light Lecture at Trinity.

The first of the series of lime light lectures given at Trinity parish building, occurred last evening.

The subject "Life and Times of Columbus," was described and illustrated by means of the stereopticon device, in a creditable and entertaining manner, thoroughly enjoyed by the large and appreciative audience.

In connection with the six lectures given through the winter, they propose having the celebrated Mr. Stoddard in his magnificent stereopticon lectures.

Bank Receivers Compromise.

The U. S. court has given Otto L. Hays, receiver of the Lima National bank, authority to deliver a note for $3,260 signed by George S. Faurot and guaranteed by Ben C. Faurot, and one of $1,500 also signed by George and indorsed by Ben, upon condition that George and Ben and their wives deliver their quit claim deed conveying to the bank their property occupied as a livery stable in Lima and surrender all claim and right to $647.19 and interest owed by the bank to George Faurot, he to secure it to the bank free from other claims.

The Lectures at Grace Church.

Rev. Mr. Sykes' lecture last night in Grace church was received by an appreciative audience with rapt attention. This gentleman ought to be added by the lyceum bureau to the star lecturers of the nation.

The next lecture in this course is placed at November 24, when Mr. L. K. Parks will discourse on France and Paris. These free lectures, given under the auspices of the St. Andrews Brotherhood, are of great interest, on a variety of themes and by able speakers.

The Donation at the Boys' Home.

At the Boys' Home on Illinois street, yesterday and last evening, occurred the celebration of the third anniversary. The pupils of Monroe, Stickney, Illinois and Jefferson schools sent in donations of potatoes, eggs, apples, turnips and other eatables. About thirty bushels of potatoes were received in all. The new home on Illinois street has on the first floor neatly furnished parlors, halls, dining room and lavatory. The second floor is given up to sleeping apartments, hospital and baths. The boys are boarded at rates within their means and where they have no money or work they are kept free for a short time. In the evening they are taught to read, write, etc. A very enjoyable evening was spent and the boys and officers wish to thank those who made the celebration possible.

Pretty Good Send Off for Dr. Fish.

The following reference to a well-known Toledo pastor is taken from the Bowling Green Sentinel:

The personnel of the membership of the district conference, now in session at the M. E. church, is excellent, and forcibly impresses one with the importance to which the ministry has attained. Among one of the most influential and gifted members is Rev. A. J. Fish, of St. John's church, Toledo. Rev. Fish, aside from his duties as pastor—and which the large membership of that church indicates is well attended to—is a platform lecturer of considerable renown. His services during the winter are much sought after. He has ten lectures in his repertory, which include Biblical, geological, scientific and humorous subjects. He has dates for the coming season in the lecture courses at North Baltimore, Dayton, Ligonier, Ind., and other points. Rev. Fish was formerly at Lima, where he met with great success in the ministerial field. He is a most agreeable gentleman to meet, and has a fund of anecdote at his command which interests his listeners for hours.

WILLIAM S. SIZER

Dies Suddenly in His Office This Afternoon.

William S. Sizer died suddenly this afternoon at his office in the Oliver house, on Ottawa street. Mr. Sizer was the manager of the Longman & Martenze Paint Manufacturing company. He was about 60 years of age and was apparently in good health. Shortly after he was taken sick a doctor was called, but soon after his arrival Mr. Sizer expired. McGlynn's ambulance was called and the remains were taken to his home, 809 Washington street. He is a brother-in-law of Dudley G. Saltonstall, and resided with his family.

REFERRED TO BELFORD.

The C., J. & M. Case Again Goes Over.

The suit of the Central Trust company against the C., J. & M. was up for hearing before Judge Taft in the United States court at Cleveland, yesterday. The case has been hanging in the courts for a long time. The question at issue at the hearing was as to who of the creditors are entitled to share in the funds of the road. The entire morning was spent in argument by the attorneys. A. L. Smith, Esq., and Judge Emery D. Potter, of Toledo, represented the unsecured creditors, and Frank B. Swayne, Esq., of Swayne, Swayne & Hayes, represented the road. Judge Taft finally referred the matter to Irwin Belford, clerk of the circuit court, to determine the creditors who are to share in the fund and to submit his report by December 15.

MAN ELEVATOR.

Unique Contrivances Adopted by the Woolson Spice Co.

In the new building of the Woolson Spice company there is an unique man elevator. It is constructed on the principle of the endless chain grain elevator, and is both simple and useful.

It is for the use of employes whose duties call them often to the various floors. It is simply an endless rubber belt, about twelve inches wide, attached to which are foot-holds and hand-clasps. It runs on a pulley from the basement to the roof. But one can step on at a time, but there are eight steps, and as the belt is running continuously, no time is lost. An employe just steps on and is whirled to any floor he pleases.

Those present at the smoke meeting last evening were more than pleased with numerous experiments.

GETTING EVEN.

How a Republican Came It on a Democrat.

A jolly republican got even with one of his victorious democratic friends by offering to bet $100 that four months after the inauguration of Grover Cleveland as president most of the factories in this country will be closed.

The democrat laughed at him, but the republican declared that he meant it, and offered to give odds. He was so insistent that his democratic friend called him a crank, and asserted that he didn't want to rob a fool of his money.

"Not such a fool as you think," said the republican. "When will Cleveland be inaugurated?"

"On the fourth of next March," proudly replied the democrat.

"Well," inquired the republican, "what date will it be four months after that?"

"Fourth of July," replied the democrat, with a confused look on his face. He had "tumbled."

"Yes," crowed the republican, "and will not most of the factories of the country be shut down on the Fourth of July?"

The democrat acknowledged the catch, laughed over it, as any democrat can afford to do, then the two friends on opposite sides of politics "went and saw a man."

Pugsley's vote over that of Hudson, 161.

TAYLOR-TOBEY.

Pretty Wedding at Westminster Church—Reception at the Taylor Home.

A very elegant wedding occurred at Westminster church last evening at 8 o'clock, when Miss Eva Taylor and Mr. George P. Toby were united in marriage by Rev. S. G. Anderson. The bride, who is beautiful and accomplished, was attired in a white brocaded satin and carried bride's roses and lillies of the valley. The bridal party entered the church in the following order: Little Miss Anna R. Kones, a niece of the groom, dressed in a white crepe de chene, trimmed in lace and white ribbon, and Master Gillette Anderson. The bride's maids entered at the left of the chancel, and the maid of honor Miss May Taylor, walked to the back of the church, where she met the bride and her father, Mr. Milton Taylor, who proceeded to the altar. Mr. Homer Foote, of New York, acted as best man. Miss May Taylor was a picture in white satin, made empire style, and carried white chrysanthemums. The bridesmaids were—Miss Ward in white, Miss Irene Frost in pink, Miss Hine in blue, Miss Richardson in green and Miss Eva Bond in yellow.

The ushers were Messrs. Bert Smith, Ralph Wickham, Clayton Reed, Harry Brown, Hubbard Woodbury and Earl Taylor.

After the ceremony a large reception was held at the spacious home. The house was beautifully decorated under Mrs. Suder's direction. An elegant wedding supper was served, the bridal party being seated at a table furnished with bridal gifts.

The guests were received by Mr. and Mrs. M. Taylor, Mrs. George Ellsworth Kones, Mr. and Mrs. Gray, and Mr. McConnell and by the entire bridal party.

The guests from abroad were: Mrs. Kones, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Will Gray, of Marion, Ind., Mrs. Niles and Miss Sadie, Mr. Bope, and the Misses Carnahan, of Findlay, and Mrs. Caples, and Mr. Ports of Fostoria.

Mr. and Mrs. Toby left for Buffalo and their future home, New York, last night. Congratulations.

A DYNAMITER.

London, Nov. 16.—Sir John Bridge today granted an order for the extradition to France of Jean Pierre Francois, alias Johnson, alias Brahl, accused of having been an accomplice of Ravachol, the anarchist, and of having caused the fatal explosion in the Very restaurant, where Ravachol had been arrested.

AN ASYLUM CONCERT.

Highly Successful Entertainment by the Mandolin Club.

The Toledo Mandolin club, a part of the Bicycle club, gave an entertainment at the Amusement hall of the Toledo asylum for insane last evening. The club is a comparatively new organization, and this was their first appearance before an audience outside their club rooms. The following program was rendered:

Polka Brilliante (Strauss), Mandolin club.

Piano solo, Danse Eccossis, (Baker) H. W. Harris.

Miserere (Verdi), Mandolin club.

Song, "Give Me Your Attention for 1,000 Years," J. S. Draper.

Les Cloches de Monastere (Wely), Mandolin club.

Piano solo, Thine Own, H. W. Harris.

Quartet—Two mandolins and two guitars.

Guitar duet.

Gavotte (Geise), Mandolin club.

Nocturne (Chopin), Mandolin club.

The first piece was a gem and was finely rendered. The piano solos by Mr. Harris showed that gentleman to be a master of his instrument, and his pieces were well received by all. The Miserere was beautiful and was expressively played, much to the delight of all, but the club would not respond to an encore. The inimitable Draper came next in a song which began, "Give me your attention for about 1,000 years," and was a medley. This piece took the hearts of all, and was heartily applauded, and Mr. Draper very kindly responded to an encore and gave a political take-off, which was received by the democratic part of the audience with high glee, in which the republican side joined, as the republicans take their defeat good-naturedly. During the playing of Mr. Harris' solo, "Danse Eccossis," a cat came out and danced up and down the stage to the immense amusement of the audience and to the embarrassment of the gentlemen, who could not imagine what the merriment was caused by.

Mr. Draper was recalled once more, and again took his audience by storm. The Gavotte and Nocturne were excellently played, but the finest and best piece of the evening was the Miserere, by Verdi. The entertainment closed promptly at 9 o'clock, and the club returned to the city with the assurance that it had given the best entertainment ever given at the asylum, and many were the invitations to come again.

The club is composed of the following well-known young men: Director, G. E. Collinwood; mandolins, S. V. Thomas, R. P. Brown, C. C. McKeeknie; guitars, Carl Knights, J. S. Draper, B. F. Bliss; violin, H. T. Snell.

DISPUTED WATERS.

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 16.—The department of marine and fisheries has received a number of affidavits from Mr. Milne regarding the seizure of Canadian sealers by a Russian war vessel. The affidavits are confirmatory of those forwarded here some time ago and clearly indicate that the Canadian sealers were hunting in neutral waters at the time of the seizure. This testimony will be forwarded to the imperial government without delay.

RAIDED THE WHISKY.

Smugglers Caught in the Act Near Quebec.

Quebec, Nov. 16.—A few days ago a large schooner, which was under surveillance of the customs officers, went ashore near L'Islet in the lower St. Lawrence and was promptly seized with some 65 barrels of spirits on board, valued at about $4,000.

As the liquor could not be immediately transferred to Quebec it was stored in a cellar.

During the night a successful attempt was made by parties suspected of being in league with the smugglers to recover possession of a portion of the confiscated liquor. Arthur Dissault, a merchant of L'Islet is under arrest charged with having been a party to the raid.

Engineers Refuse to Take Less Wages.

They Know That Organization and Not the Tariff Is What Counts.

Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 16.—The engineers of the "dummy" lines running between Birmingham and various suburban towns struck yesterday because the company gave notice of a reduction in wages.

The state fair is going on and travel to the grounds was paralyzed.

Chief Arthur of the engineers, who is here, and Rufus N. Rhodes, editor of the Daily News, held a conference with the company last evening and later the notice of the reduction was withdrawn. The men then resumed work.

PRESERVED SMITH

Is In Quite a Pickle in Cincinnati.

Continuation of the Trial of the Reverend Gentleman for Heresy.

Cincinnati, Nov. 16.—When the hour set for resuming the trial of Rev. Henry Preserved Smith for alleged heresy arrived this morning it was found that Stated Clerk Swiggett was absent, and as he had the roll-call and the minutes of Tuesday's proceedings in his possession the question arose as to awaiting his arrival or going ahead without him.

The matter was discussed and the presbytery decided to wait, so far as the minutes were concerned.

Clerk Souter, however, by direction of the presbytery, called the names of members and the absentees were noted. As to the right of absentees to vote on the issues of the trial, Prof. Smith said he would reserve the right to enter an objection if he should see fit to object. Moderator Scott told him it was unnecessary to reserve the right, as he could object in such a case at any time.

Rev. Mr. Francis, as one of the clerks, read his minutes of Tuesday's proceedings.

Dr. Curtis, one of Prof. Smith's adherents, objected to that portion of Dr. Francis' minutes which related to Dr. Robertson's charge that Prof. Smith had indulged n personal reflections on members of the prosecuting committee. Such a thing, Dr. Curtis considered without parallel.

Dr. Francis said the minutes were not his own, they having been approved by the committee appointed Tuesday afternoon to revise the minutes. A vote was taken and the matter objected to was stricken out.

Dr. Roberts said great care should be taken in keeping the record in this case, and he wanted to know whether the matter was receiving due attention. The moderator informed him that it was, and Dr. Riggs, of the revision committee, said the minutes read by Dr. Francis were intended to be the minutes of the presbytery. The minutes as read by Dr. Francis were then approved, and Dr. McKibben, of the prosecuting committee, began the discussion of Prof. Smith's objections to the charges.

A RESULT

Of the Forgeries of Frank Forlow, a Hicksville Attorney.

Defiance, O., Nov. 16.—The common pleas court has just closed and settled a case that has occupied its attention for nearly two weeks. It was a suit of the Merchants' National bank against Benjamin and Amos Forlow to recover payment on a note of $950, bearing the signatures of these gentlemen, together with Frank C. Forlow, who is a son of Amos and grandson of Benjamin. The defense claim that they didn't sign the note, but that Frank, who is a prominent Hicksville attorney, forged their names to it. The case has created much attention, and almost every one was surprised when the jury brought in a verdict for the plaintiff. Frank has been indicted for forging this note, and this verdict practically clears him and saves him from the penitentiary. At Hicksville the excitement is intense. The people there all knew the elder Forlows to be strictly honest, and believe the young man guilty. His case will be tried at the next term of court.

Col. Isaac D. Smead's paper on the smoke nuisance, printed elsewhere, makes interesting reading.

Mr. Maher's pungent pen is stirring up the boys. On so poor a subject his defense is excellent.

Now for a jollification on Saturday night which will astonish the natives. Give genuine enthusiasm a show.

Joe Cannon's seat is to be contested. Illinois allowed one blot to rest on the good name of the state in his election.

What city in the country can beat Toledo? Its residents are still blessed with the open car on the street railway lines.

Now it is said Senator Hill is not to wed Mrs. Iverson. At least the lady herself denies the story, and she ought to know.

A number of the republican papers are printing editorials to disprove the fact that their party is dead. In this case, if not, why not?

Negotiations are in progress for the consolidation of the linseed oil interests of the country, which is made possible under republican legislation.

Talking about saloons, Chicago tallied yesterday in its collector's office at the 7,000 mark. And the city has a republican reform mayor, too.

Democrats of Toledo, keep up your organization. It is better, easier and less expensive to do so than to reorganize just before another campaign.

Many business men of New York are out in interviews against an extra session of congress. The list of talkers is composed chiefly of democrats.

It has been decided to hold the democratic jollification on Saturday evening, in order to give the average workingman an opportunity to participate.

It's a great time Dr. Depew, Tom Platt and the rest of the leaders are having over the question of how the great defeat came about. What's the use of quarreling over dead issues.

Many will be disappointed at not having a parade Saturday night, but the committee used its best judgment, and considering the expense, and possibly inclement weather, the decision was correct.

Gen. Weaver thinks the republicans have made their last fight for president, which ought to prove true, but they will probably make another dash and meet the same fate as at their last one.

The official count in Cuyahoga county gives the democrats the entire ticket, Col. Taylor's majority being 2,785. What Cuyahoga did Lucas county can do, if organization is perfected. Organize.

The local morning organ refers to what it calls the "creed" of the republican party. If such a thing exists it is overshadowed if not contained, in the "greed" of that same organization, happily now pretty well disorganized.

Funny that Margaret Mather cannot marry if she wants to without half the newspapers going wild over it. Maggie has long since reached an age which would entitle her to another husband if she is lucky enough to capture one.

That prohibition and people's vote in this district might have created some guessing if cast between the old parties. The democrats would have had their share, but would it's nominee have fourteen majority? Well, never mind now.

The regulation story about Powderly resigning as chief of the Knights of Labor is going the rounds, but Terence will likely be found at the helm when the convention closes. It is generally believed he is not of the resigning or declining kind.

New York's sheriff has served attachments on all the republican leaders to be found in the city for several thousand dollars' worth of printing done for the national campaign committee. Other creditors will follow suit. Trouble for the grand old party is not all over yet.

Lucas county republicans have scored their last victory, if the local organs succeed in reading out of the party all who refused to bend the knee to the Ashley idol. Of course, the gentlemen, mostly all of them good citizens, will be welcomed to the democratic fold, where they long since ought to have registered.

The suggestion that the newspapers should not anticipate a verdict for the juries in the council cases on trial is a very appropriate one. So far as the Bee is concerned, it has simply printed the evidence as given on both sides without coloring, and it will continue to do so in the future. The theory in law that one is considered innocent until proven guilty is more appropriate now than ever.

Iowa democrats do not desire Gov. Boies to enter President Cleveland's cabinet even if he should receive an invitation. Their intention is to nominate the doughty governor for United States senator at the state convention next spring, and then make a fight similar to that of Senator Palmer in Illinois, and as to the result the democracy have no fear. Boies is said to heartily agree with the proposition, which means another democratic senator without doubt.

WHAT ORGANIZATION CAN DO.

In line with the Bee's appeal for organization, it may be stated that the democrats of Wisconsin began to lay plans more than two years ago, to achieve the victory attained a week ago. A house to house poll was made, and instead of sending out literature by the cart load to serve as carpets for committee rooms, the documents were mailed to the individuals whose names were in possession of the various bureaus. Even the different nationalities were divided up and handled systematically. Ohio was not stronger than Wisconsin in the republican column, and yet the most favorable results were secured for democracy. Organize!

WHY THE CHANGE?

What great change has come over the local press in the past few days to cause such a demand for a board of control or other new form of government for Toledo? A couple of years since, when a large number of representative citizens were laboring to bring about a change, they were denounced as rippers, the gang, ringsters, etc., and for the past three campaigns "ripper" has been the favorite term of the organ on the corner for any democrat who happened to be suggested for an office. Would it not be a good idea for the present rippers to show their hand with their measure before appealing for support? The general fear just now is that the proposition is loaded, and it would be just as well to have the matter discussed now as at any other time. There will be no disagreement on a fair measure, but is must be fair.

THE COMMERCIAL'S CONSISTENCY.

The morning after election the Commercial in scare headlines announced an immense reduction in wages. The republican papers generally have started in on the same wail.

This morning the Commercial editorially says:

"It is reported that the big manufacturers in Rhode Island who were arranging to increase the wages of the cotton factory operatives have decided that such action is impolitic, considering the uncertainty arising from a change in national administration."

In the Commercial's telegraph columns this morning appeared the following:

Providence, R. I., Nov. 15.—The Lonsdale company and the firm of B. B. & R. Knight notified their employes to-day of an increase in wages, to go into effect December 5. The amount of the proposed increase is not given out. This action will doubtless be followed by the other cotton manufacturers in the state.

Lowell, Mass., Nov. 15.—At a meeting of the agents of the Lowell cotton mills to-day it was decided to grant an increase not to exceed 7 per cent., in the wages of the operatives. This is to take effect December 4.

The republican organs have evidently condemned the Cleveland administration in advance, and facts do not count. The public, however, will not be deceived by biased and false statements, but will seek the proof in the result.

THE SMOKE NUISANCE.

It is gratifying to find the manufacturers of Toledo and the city authorities in accord on the necessity of abolishing the smoke nuisance At the meeting last evening it was evident from the discussion that the manufacturers are as anxious as the city authorities and residents generally to have the abomination abated. The point raised by Mr. Griffith to the effect that smoke cannot be consumed, but is simply changed in transition into a colorless and decidedly deadly poison, is a good one and worthy the consideration of the committee appointed to investigate. If Mr. Griffith's assertion is true, and it undoubtedly is, it would be much more preferable to have the unsightly black clouds shutting out the sunlight than have the smoke transposed to a poisonous gas that, being colorless and therefore invisible, is all the more deadly and dangerous to the public health.

Mr. Gendron's suggestion relative to a higher grade of fireman is practical, but he will probably find that his prescription will not work. A higher grade of workmanship will naturally demand a higher scale of wages.

The discussion last evening must result in much good.

What is the matter with the manufacturers forming a permanent organization for the discussion of this and kindred subjects?

PAYING A BET.

The following is taken from a letter written to a friend in this city about the payment of one of those dead sure things, viz.: Harrison's election. When he made the bet tariff reform was a diabolical fraud, and Harrisonism was his guiding star; McKinleyism and protection was his gospel, and the force billism was his confession of faith. After the verdict, read what he says:

"Tell Mr. —— that I hate like the d—l to pay any democrat any money, but that if it has to go in that direction I don't know any person that is more welcome to it than he, and that I will send it to him.

"I think the political devil was unchained and turned loose, and that Harrisonism, McKinleyism and force billism are all dead, and that on the stepping stone of a fair and reasonable tariff, an honorable pension roll and honest and secure currency, the G. O. P. will yet rise and knock the spots out of free trade, wild-cat currency and all other catch-penny voting democratic tomfoolery."

This man voted for, bet on and followed an "ignus fatuus," according to his own showing. Now, without acknowledging his error, he falls back on the platform of the democratic party as the only hope of the future; but beware: "His voice is the voice of Jacob, but his hands are the hands of Esau."

Our Congressman.

Byron Ritchie, that matchless young Toledoan, has achieved a proud and well deserved distinction. Ritchie was elected to congress in the Ninth district over Gen. James Ashley by a plurality of 14. A close vote, but sufficient to insure the young politician a seat in Congress one term at least.—The Massillonian.

Some people have greatness thrust upon them, and Byron Ritchie, of Toledo, seems to be one of them. The managers of his party were hunting around for weeks to find some one to accept the congressional nomination, and, failing to secure a first-class man, the nomination was given to Ritchie. He is now smiling at the fellows who refused the nomination, for he will be the next congressman from the Toledo district, elected by fourteen plurality.—Lima Republican.

SOCIALISTS.

Opening of the Session at Berlin—The Debates.

Berlin, Nov. 16.—The socialist conference to-day opened with the reading by Herr Singer of congratulations from socialist comrades in England, France, Holland, Spain and Switzerland. Herr Adler, of Vienna, read congratulations from the Austrian socialists who promised that they would make a grand demonstration next May day. Herr Richard Fischer next read the annual report of the party committee. The committee points with satisfaction to the reform effected in the party's organization, "a reform which allows the exercise of individual liberty, while keeping the party to the true lines of progress."

The committee adds: "This record is joyfully spread before the social democracy of the provinces. Not only have more distinct conferences been held in the last year, but they have been better attended. Concurrently with this renewed activity, more intimate relations have been established between the executive committee and the rank and file."

As proof of this last assertion, which will be disputed at the congress by many persons believing that the committee has become an autocratic body, the report gives some statistics. Between the Halle and Erfurt congresses the committee received from comrades throughout the empire, 3,227 letters and postal cards.

The gains by the social democrats at Landtag and Reichstag elections in several districts, the report continues, has shown with what remarkable success the executive committee has spread the program. In the face of such facts all talk of retrogression is absurd.

It becomes more apparent every day that the working people are receiving more attention than ever before from the governing classes and that all questions relating to labor are regarded as the most pressing questions of the hour. The credit for this gratifying condition of affairs is due to the efforts of the executive committee aided by local committees in spreading the propaganda of socialism.

JUSTIFIABLE MANSLAUGHTER.

Ft. Wayne, Ind., Nov. 16.—John Phillips, who blew off "Bud" Green's head last night with a shotgun while he was trying to enter Phillips' house through a window, will be released from jail in the morning on the coroner's verdict of justifiable manslaughter.

SATURDAY NIGHT

The Democrats Will Hold the Promised Jubilee.

There Will Be No Parade, but Just a Big Rally with Music, Fireworks and Speaking.

At a special meeting held yesterday afternoon in the Law building the democratic executive committee decided to hold the grand jubilee on Saturday evening.

The program as outlined by Chairman Eppstein, and after some discussion adopted, excludes a parade, as in this weather a street parade would be anything but pleasant.

Memorial hall has been secured, and speeches will be made by Frank H. Hurd, of Lucas; Congressman Ritchie, Frank Isabel, of Fulton, and L. C. Cole and Frank Baldwin, of Wood.

The following committeemen were appointed:

Finance—M. J. Cooney and Jacob Mandler.

Music—Rudolph Brand.

Decorations—B. F. Wade and John Huberich.

Speakers, vice-presidents and secretaries—D. H. Commager, M. M. Eppstein and C. W. Murphy.

Fireworks, etc.—M. J. Cooney, Jacob Mandler, James Maguire and Capt. John O'Connor.

Usher-in-chief—Larry McCarty.

It was decided to give a salute of 100 guns, beginning at 6 p. m., in court house park.

The band will play in front of Memorial hall from 7 p. m., and at intervals during the speaking.

The fireworks will be in charge of an expert and will be very fine.

It was decided to give the jollification on Saturday night at the request of large contingents from Bowling Green and other places, from whence special trains will be run.

It Needs Strength.

Protection sentiment is stronger to-day than at any time in the history of the country. It will grow in strength at a rapid rate, too.—Canton Repository, Rep.

Quite Another Story.

The republicans were all denouncing the calamity-howlers a week ago. Now they have mostly turned themselves wrong side out in calamity howling. The change is quite agonizing.—Canton News-Democrat.

Will Hold On.

It is 34 years since the democrats have had control of the national government in all its branches, and we venture the prediction that it will be 34 years before they are dislodged from it.—Zanesville Signal.

David Knows His Business.

Senator Hill is soon to marry a young widow of Atlanta, Ga., Mrs. Iverson. Hill is a shrewd politician and knows that a bachelor stands a poor chance of the presidency. Baby Ruth was a mascot.—Bowling Green Sentinel.

Too Late to Lock the Stable.

It should be the unwritten law of republican conventions not to renominate a president in times of great emergency. No one need look further to learn this lesson than to the last election, and the nearer complete returns become the more striking does the lesson grow.—Youngstown Telegram.

We Are All Americans.

There was a republican crank in Chicago and one in Jersey City who exhibited the United States flag, union down, as an exhibition of their disgust at the result of the election. That flag should never be lowered on any occasion. After Bull Run, patriots floated it more enthusiastically than before.—Dayton Journal.

How About Ohio.

The superior court in Chicago has just decided that a railroad company can be made to pay for damages to property adjacent to its line, caused by the smoke of passing trains. That the smoke can be avoided seems to have been sufficiently settled in the mind of the court to warrant judgment that if smoke is persisted in those responsible for it must also be responsible for consequent damages. Here is a pointer for Cincinnati's smoke inspector, also for the publishers and manufacturers and merchants of the city who annually suffer losses amounting to thousands of dollars as a consequence of unnecessary volumes of smoke.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

Take Off Your Hats to McKinley.

The political revolution in Ohio is almost too big to properly appreciate. In all frankness it is proper to say that the result surprised the democracy as much as it astonished the republicans. For 40 years nothing like it has happened in this state. With the regularity of clockwork the state of Ohio in presidential years has cast its vote without a tremor for the republican party. The cause for the change this year can be attributed to the false theories of our present slightly disabled and disfigured chief executive. Every democrat should tip his hat to Gov. McKinley. He is the best friend the democracy has had for 40 years.—Mansfield Shield.

Diphtheria Raging to an Alarming Extent in New London.

Norwalk, O., Nov. 16.—(Special)—Diphtheria has been prevailing to some extent at New London for several weeks. Several deaths have occurred. Every effort has been made to blot it out, but it has been gradually growing worse. As a precaution the board of education has ordered the schools closed. The state board of health has just made an investigation and ordered the town quarantined.

POPULATION STATISTICS.

Census Office Bulletin Giving the Number of Inhabitants of several Southern States.

Washington, Nov. 16.—The census office in a bulletin issued yesterday gives statistics of population in 1890 by color, sex and nativity in Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas. The features of the bulletin are summarized as follows:

Kentucky—Total population, 1,858,635; whites, 1,590,462; colored, 268,173; males, 942,758; females 918,877; native born, 1,789,929; foreign born, 59,356.

Oklahoma—Total population, 61,834; whites, 58,826; colored, 3,008; males, 34,733; females, 27,101; native born, 59,094; foreign born, 2,740.

Arkansas—Total population, 1,128,179; whites, 718,752; colored, 209,427; males, 585,755; females, 542,425; native born, 1,113,915; foreign born, 14,264.

CLUBS AND SOCIETIES.

The Humane Society Discussed Corporal Punishment.

Interesting Session of the Isabella Circle—Meeting of the Home Aid Association.

The adjourned meeting of the Humane society was held last evening in the rooms of the society on Adams street, with an unusually large attendance.

President Brown presided, Mrs. Brooks secretary.

The first business was the reading of Humane Officer France's report of the work of the society during the month, the summary of which is as follows:

Relief furnished, 2; cruelty and neglect to children, 10; cruelty and neglect to wife and family, 9; convictions for cruelty to wife and family, 5; cruelty to animals, 4; homes found for children, 3; boys sent to Lancaster, 3; children under notice of society, 50; re-investigations, 8; minor cases and administrations, 24.

The subject of corporal punishment was then introduced by Mrs. Segur offering the following resolution:

Resolved, That the humane society protests against the use of the rawhide in our public schools.

Mr. Brown objected to the resolution being put in that way, as they had no proof that the rawhide had been used in the schools in such a manner as to warrant the interference of the society.

Mrs. Segur said she had proof, but was not at liberty to disclose names at that time, as this was not an investigation.

Mr. Brown thought the only way in which the matter could be brought squarely before the society, would be to have a case of cruelty presented to the society and an investigation made.

The society could not condemn anything without positive evidence.

Mrs. Segur said that she understood Mr. Brown to say that he was in favor of rawhiding.

Mr. Brown said she had misunderstood him, as he had said nothing of the kind.

He thought, however, that the rawhide could be used mildly, and after a somewhat heated discussion the resolution was amended to read:

"Whereas, It has been reported to this society that the rawhide is being cruelly used in the public schools of Toledo as an instrument of punishment; therefore, be it

"Resolved, That if such report be true, that this society enters its protest against the use of the rawhide in the Toledo public schools as an instrument of punishment."

This amendment was unanimously adopted, after which the meeting adjourned.

Among the ladies taking part in the discussion were Mesdames Segur, Morgan, Cole, Macomber and Miss Mott.

The monthly meeting of the Queen Isabella circle yesterday was handsomely entertained by Mrs. Captain Rooney, attracting the usually large audience of interested members and visitors. After some routine work was disposed of, the historic subject of the occasion, "The Loss of the Spanish Possessions in South America," was introduced by a terse, bright paper by Miss Catharine Crowe, detailing the reasons why Spain failed to hold her colonies in the southern portion of the new world. A variety of views were brought out in the discussion. The evidence of much general ignorance relating to South American history may result in the formation of a Pan-American History club, when the Columbian celebration has become an event of the past. Mrs. O. A. Browning entertains the circle December 20, Mrs. Sloan giving a paper upon "The Loss of the Spanish Possessions in North America."

The Home Aid association held the semi-monthly meeting at Odd Fellow's temple last evening, with the usual good attendance. One new member was received, and one application for membership.

The superior council recommended several changes in the constitution, which were voted on and accepted.

The session was an interesting one and adjournment was not taken until a late hour.

The next meeting will be held Tuesday evening, November 29, when the regular nomination of officers occurs.

The Ramabai circle is meeting with Mrs. Peck, on Buffalo street this afternoon.

The Catholic club will hold the regular meeting to-morrow night.

Dr. Effie Obermiller will read a paper on Music, Its Origin and Development, up to the Period of Sebastian Bach.

THE BROWN CASE.

It Has Been Called in the Bryan Courts.

The Two Burchell Boys Have Secured the Best of Legal Talent.

Bryan, O., Nov. 16.—(Special.)—Judge Snook made his appearance here yesterday to open Williams county common pleas court. Outside of charging the grand jury and attending to other local matters nothing was done.

This morning the murder trial came up. It is the case of State of Ohio vs. George and Michael Burchell, charged with the murder of Arthur Brown, last spring. Nearly 150 witnesses have been subpoenaed. It is thought that it will take up the balance of the week to find a jury to sit on this case. There are about 175 cases on the present docket, and if all are heard at this term of court it will take a month or more to dispose of all of them.

THE TOLEDO ELKS.

Program for Their Banquet To-morrow Evening.

Handsome Decorations, Good Music A Rattling Spread and Good Speakers—Guests from Out of Town.

To-morrow evening the Elks of Toledo will take a few hours off and let the horns grow a little. The ladies are to be brought into the social season for the first time. It will be a grand affair. The banquet comes off at Odd Fellows' Temple at 8:30 o'clock. Covers will be laid for 200 guests. Brothers and their ladies will be here from Defiance, Tiffin, Lima and Fremont.

Capt. Wm. V. McMacken, the exalted ruler, will preside as toast master, and the following gentlemen will respond to the toasts given below:

The Grand Lodge—F. E. Wright.

Our Order and Its Social Features—Byron F. Ritchie.

Our Guests, the Ladies—L. G. Richardson.

Our Motto "The faults of our brothers we write on the sands, their virtues upon the tablets of love and memory."—J. K. Hamilton.

No. 53—J. H. Southard.

Our City—V. J. Emmick.

Dr. H. I. Monroe will read an original paper entitled, "How Are You?" and A. Farquharson will give a recitation.

The decorations will be something beautiful and novel, consisting of flowers and plants and elks' heads, loaned for the occasion by Manager McFadden, of the Wonderland. Leon's orchestra will furnish music and Caterrer Hanner will look after the banquet.

Exalted Ruler Ike Dreyfoos, of Fremont, and Hon. James Hunt will be among the guests.

GOSSIP FROM THE OUTSIDE PRESS.

"Died—Nov. 8, the Grand Old Party. Burial private. No flowers. No mourners. No hope of a resurrection. No nothing."—Chicago Times.

Case of G. B. With the G. O. P.

The G. O. P. organs are sadly discussing "the situation of the republican party." That's the trouble. The party has just been "fired" by the people and is without a situation.—Atlanta Journal.

Never Again.

It matters not who gets the few paltry offices in Ohio. The verdict of the Buckeye state against McKinleyism is so pronounced that the republican candidate for governor out there next year will not dare run on a high-tariff platform.—New York World.

It Isn't Fair.

Some of the republican newspapers are hitting Whitelaw Reid in a cowardly manner. It is manifestly unfair to hold him wholly responsible for a defeat that was brought about by years of dishonest practice and legislation.—New York World.

Bad Taste and Bad Judgment.

The payment of ridiculous election bets goes on apace, and the public becomes more and more impressed with the notion that the bettors displayed not only bad judgment in their choice of sides, but also bad taste in the subject matter of the wager.—Chicago Dispatch.

This Is Too Much.

It is to be hoped that there is nothing in the rumor that Senator Sherman contemplates resigning in favor of Foraker. The republican party of Ohio does not merit any such castigation as that, though it must be admitted that it made an awful slump on the 8th of November.—Kansas City Star.

Make a Note of This.

The Philadelphia Record asks the calamity wailers to take note that since the elections the price of cotton has advanced five-eighths of a cent a pound, and the sales on the New York cotton exchange have aggregated something like 1,500,000 bales or more than for any previous four days in the history of the cotton trade. It will also be observed that the prices of cotton goods have generally advanced; that wool values have not suffered the slightest reaction; that the upward course of prices of pig and manufactured iron has continued; that the quotations for all cereals are higher; that western farmers have obtained 35 cents per 100 pounds advance for hogs, and that the prices of pork products have sympathetically improved.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

The Asylum Chicago Purchase.

To the Editor: Some time since I wrote a polite note to you, requesting the asylum authorities, or rather Steward Cahill, Superintendent Tobey and Trustee Geyser, to give the public, and especially Toledo merchants, the reason for the purchase of several thousand dollars' worth of goods in Chicago and elsewhere, when they could have been easily secured in Toledo. Thus far none of them have responded. Especially did I think that Mr. Cahill would reply, but he has not. The trustees meet to-morrow, and perhaps they may agree on a statement. If not, I have some information which may interest the public.

A TOLEDO MERCHANT.

The Memorial Park Grounds.

To the Editor: In the Sunday Journal I noticed a diagram of a proposed improvement in Memorial plot, by cutting off all ends of lots abutting on Maiden Lane and my property fronting on Madison street. Now I have labored and given time and attention to keep my houses in good sanitary condition, put down stone walks, paid for a roadway twice, raised the houses, paid all assessments and taxes without a murmur. Nor would I raise my voice now if the whole block was to be taken, but to be forced to sell on a rising market, I shall consider a great hardship as a citizen. A municipality ought to protect the interests of its least wealthy citizens as well as its most opulent.

The small strips will not change the above grounds to any material extent, as two stables will be left, and rear ends of lots, however short, will have fences; and when the whole is considered it comes to this. Mr. Scott thinks to beautify the new front to Hotel Madison, to be built on the Ontario street side, at the sacrifice of his hitherto neighbors. Why did he not protest when the Schutt stable was built, which ruined in an aesthetic sense, a residence in the Locke block? A boarding stable was convenient for guests at the hotel, but he ignored personalities.

A better use could be made of the plot by putting a handsome public building upon it, which would hide all objectionable features, and also prevent a break in the growth of business up Madison street, which too much space stops.

Does there exist any constitutional right to damage property by inflicting a permanent injury, such as would be the case of the shortened lots? Yours in the interest of just and equitable consideration of all sides. ELLEN SULLEY FRAY.

WOMAN'S SECRETS.

The Telephone Girl Has a Dead Cinch on Them.

Husbands May Deceive Their Wives but Not the Operator.

Where Women Go to Have a Quiet Talk Over the Phone—How the Girls Get Even.

Climbing up a long flight of stairs to the general offices of the Toledo Telephone Exchange, the visitor, on the payment of a dime, can talk to his or her heart's content—on the quiet.

She was an operator in the Toledo Exchange, though she is married now, but as Barnyard Kipling would say, that's another story.

She does love to tell of amusing and knotty incidents that occurred during her reign in the exchange.

"People who visit the 'exclusive' phone in the office," she began, "imagine that it is impossible for them to be heard by other than those with whom they are speaking. This is a grave mistake. The moment one entered that closed and exclusive closet we were on the alert. We knew from experience it meant generally 'a date,' and of course we all wanted to know the particulars. The girl called gave the tip to the next, and so the news went down the line until all the girls were listening and taking it all in. Oh, dear, what stories we could have told about some of the 'best' people in the city."

"Who generally patronized those phones?"

"Married women and young women; why we knew every engaged couple in the city. Goodness, the reporter who stands in with a telephone girl has a clean cinch on all the racy news of the day. Many and many a time have we listened to some young society belle make an engagement with some married man and we knew them, too."

"Had you any trouble with the cranks?"

"Well, I should say so, and by the way I knew you as one of the chief cranks. We often decided to get even for your rackets, and we would had I remained much longer, I tell you that."

"Do the girls often get even?"

"Almost always. I remember getting even with one. He is a married man and has an office on Madison street. One night—I was doing night work then—he called up from Hockenberger's and wanted his residence. I gave it to him and found his wife. The conversation was something like this:

"'Hello—Emma?'

"'Yes. That you, Harry?'

"'Yes. How are you and the children?'

"'All right, but where are you, and when are you coming home?'

"'I'm in Detroit, and won't be home until to-morrow morning. Good night, dear.'

"'Good night, dear.'

SMOKE CONSUMPTION.

Interesting and Intelligent Discussion of It

At a Largely Attended Meeting Last Evening.

The Manufacturers and City Authorities in Accord and Will Work Together in the Matter.

The meeting held last evening at the office of the Woolson Spice company for the purpose of devising means and ways of enforcing and complying with the city ordinance relative to the consumption of smoke, was largely attended. The interest the subject attracts was evident from the size of the audience and the trend of the discussion.

Those present were: J. C. Crabbs, Milburn Wagon Co.; F. C. Romeky; C. H. Moore, C. H. Moore & Co.; W. A. Mills, attorney; W. H. A. Read, city solicitor; G. H. Fisher, Gendron Iron Wheel Co.; E. L. Whitteman; E. S. Griffith, H. P. Platt; J. B. Keecham, broker; B. G. McMechen, Woolson Spice Co.; J. M. Arbuckle, Arbuckle, Ryan & Co.; J. N. Ricard, boiler works; A. E. Rood, harness; C. D. Clapp, hardware; G. M. Chute, Thomson-Chute Soap Co.; F. H. Steele; James Howe, W. L. Brown; W. A. Brigham; Joseph Roth, Roth & Friedman; F. J. Herman, Toledo Planing Mill Co.; John G. Zeller, superintendent construction U. S. Baking Co.; Jerome Smith, manager U. S. Baking Co.; G. L. Lewis; Wm. Jones, Toledo Foundry and Machine Co.; L. W. Walker; Chas. Marlow, Toledo Lumber Mfg. Co.; W. H. Haskell, Miami Maize Co.; H. C. Cotter, superintendent waterworks; D. C. Shaw, Shaw-Kendall Co.; Chas. Faben, superintendent gas works; C. F. Conover, engineer city waterworks; Clay Crawford, manufacturer boiler compound; W. H. Harrison, Toledo Tobacco Works Co.; Col. Haughton, Haughton Mfg. and Elevator Co.; W. C. Brewer, manager Toledo Bicycle Co.; H. C. Sprague, Madaren & Sprague; Berbert Baker, Baker Bros.; A. Fleming & Bro.; P. S. Willis, superintendent Woolson Spice Co.; Vincent Emmick, mayor Toledo; Philip Hassenzahl, city council; L. H. Colburn, superintendent Baker Bros.; F. N. Quale, superintendent steamboats; J. M. Ryan, Arbuckle, Ryan & Co.; G. W. Thomas, Toledo Wheelbarrow works; Peter Gendron, Gendron Iron Wheel Co.

Mr. A. M. Woolson called the meeting to order. He named Col. Isaac D. Smead for chairman of the meeting.

Col. Smead said the honor was not unexpected, as he had been told that he would be expected to preside. Mr. S. P. Jermain was elected secretary and Mr. A. M. Woolson was nominated for treasurer, but declined, and Mr. Brigham was elected treasurer.

Col. Smead presented his views on the consumption of smoke. He said:

Previous to 1867 there had been but little done in this country in the line of domestic use of soft coal. I refer to its use in furnaces for warming buildings. My employers, recognizing the fact that it is the natural fuel of the west, commenced to manufacture apparus suitable for its use. Many thousands of dollars were lost by them before anything like success was attained.

The laws governing this question are easily understood if stated in plain language, but to apply those laws is a very difficult problem—difficult because of the endless variety of couditions under which fuel is used.

Combustion, wherever it is found, is always brought about by a combination of three things, viz., the union of carbon, (anything that will burn) with oxygen, (the active element of air) and heat. I don't know what heat is, no one does. It is a "condition, not a theory." But it is true that a combination of these three things always makes a fire, and fire is made in no other way.

The condition of the fire is in exact proportion to the union of these elements. If the union is perfect the fire is perfect, and all of the carbon is consumed. The common coal oil lamp is the only illustration I know of where, under ordinary circumstances, there is even an approach to perfect combustion. Why? Simply because the union of the three elements is under the control of the fireman. By the use of the little thumb-screw, we have absolute control of this question, and as before stated, I know of no other place where equal control is secured. The lamp chimney gives us the draft; i. e., being hot, it causes the air (oxygen) to rush through. The oil and wick furnish the carbon, the match the high temperature and the thumb-screw the means of control. Now, then, if we turn the wick too high, "it smokes." Why? Because we have more carbon than the oxygen present can care for, and the liberated carbon appears as smoke or soot. If we turn it too low there is too much oxygen and too little carbon and we get no light and little heat; but properly adjusted, success is attained. Until this mechanical contrivance had been invented, the whale oil lamp and the candle furnished the dim light of our fathers.

Now then, these same ideas of perfect union must be applied to all our stoves, our furnaces and under our boilers before we secure anything like satisfactory results. The condition that now exists is substantially the same as would exist should you continually be turning the thumb-screw up and down; i. e., a constant variation in the union of the two elements, carbon, oxygen and heat.

As boilers are now set and cared for by the average fireman, the result is about as it would be if you should permit a child to play with the thumb-screw of the lamp. Tom, Dick and Harry set our boilers and their cousins build our chimneys and their other relatives wield the shovel and push the wheelbarrow, and at irregular intervals stuff the fire-box with either coal or cold air. No attention is or can be paid to the proper union of the three elements, and like the case of the child with the lamp, there is imperfect combustion.

Can this be remedied? Yes, but only on the lines followed in the construction of a lamp; viz., by such an adjustment of our boiler furnaces that by mechanical means the exact amount of coal is supplied to form proper union with the oxygen required to, with the necessary high temperature, form a perfect union. When this is done you don't burn the smoke, you simply don't make any smoke.

It is practically useless to try to burn smoke after it is once formed. I have done considerable rambling on this subject myself as the patent office records will show; but whenever away from the natural laws mentioned, I might as well have chased the bow of all the colors. Fortunes have been lost in attempts to make "smoke burners," and every little while some impractical experimenter yells "Eureka," and good money is again paid out by manufacturers and wasted by them in their efforts to meet the requirements of some city ordinance, passed by a city council who know no more about these matters than they do about the inhabitants of the moon, and I have known those inventive cranks to get such ordinances passed that they might have opportunity to force manufacturers to buy their traps.

Almost every city has had its smoke ordinance craze and those laws are a dead letter wherever passed, for except at great expense to secure a mechanical device that does away with the fireman and makes the correct union of the elements possible, it is absolutely impossible not to have smoke. These cannot be applied at much less than $1,000 per boiler and all others are useless and generally dangerous to boilers and to all connected with them.

Another method of avoiding the smoke nuisance is to build chimneys so high that the smoke is carried away from the city. That is all right until the city is large.

At great expense, the smoke from some boilers can be avoided, but it is impossible on them all; and for a city council to pass such laws is simply evidence that they know little upon the subject.

Mr. Harvey Platt suggested that the names of all those present be taken down.

Mr. J. B. Battelle then read a list of answers to questions sent out by the Woolson Spice company to Cincinnati, Louisville, Boston, Chicago and about twenty other cities.

City Solicitor Read then explained the city smoke consuming ordinance. He said that as far as he knew Toledo was the first illustration where manufacturers and the city authorities met to discuss this question. Such ordinances have been looked upon as a threat. He discovered prior to the introduction of the Toledo ordinance smoke consuming apparatus had proved successful. Within the last three weeks the Pennsylvania railroad notified him that the company had secured a device that completely consumed the smoke from locomotives.

Mr. Arbuckle, of Arbuckle & Ryan, believed the only solution was perfect combustion.

Messrs. Segur, Fabin, Gendron and others spoke on the subject. Mr. Gendron thought a great deal depended on the fireman. Use the coal lightly and often, and there will be no smoke.

Mr. Harvey Platt didn't know how the nuisance could be abated, but that it should be abated was admitted by all.

Col. Nat Haughton agreed with Mr. Gendron. If the fireman does his duty there will be but little smoke. He thought it unfair to confine the ordinance to soft coal.

Mr. Gendron moved that the city solicitor be requested to grant a cessation of three months to educate firemen.

Mr. David Robison moved that a committee of five be appointed to investigate and report.

Mr. F. N. Quale said that his fireman had patented a very successful device. He was not advertising his fireman, but he desired to help to solve the solution.

Mr. Bert Griffith gave some interesting information on smoke generation and consumption. The evil, he said, may be prevented, but cannot be cured.

Mr. Read, in reply to a question, said he could not suspend an ordinance, but he would agree not to press prosecution.

The following committee was appointed: Messrs. Fabin, Robison, Griffith, Shaw, Colburn and Morris.

Adjourned.

AN ORDINANCE

To regulate and compel the consumption of smoke emitted by the burning of coal.

Be it ordained by the common council of the city of Toledo:

Section 1. That all engines, boilers, locomotives and furnaces used in the city of Toledo for the purposes of generating steam or producing power, wherein soft coal is used for fuel, shall be furnished with proper appliances for the consumption of smoke emitted therefrom, and after 60 days from the passage of this ordinance it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to use or operate, or cause to be used or operated, within the limits of the city of Toledo, any engine, boiler, locomotives or furnace used for such purpose, wherein soft coal is burned as a fuel, unless the said engine, locomotive or furnace be furnished with a proper smoke consumer; provided, that this ordinance shall not apply to steamboats not used as tugs, and to locomotives used solely for drawing trains into or out of the city of Toledo, but shall apply to such locomotives when used for switching or making up trains.

Sec. 2. That any person, firm or corporation who shall use, operate or cause to be operated any engine, boiler, locomotive or furnace, contrary to the provisions of section 1 of this ordinance, shall be fined not less than $10 or more than $50 for each violation thereof.

Sec. 3. That this ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and legal publication.

HUNG HIMSELF.

Bert Parr, of Auburndale, Commits Suicide.

Temporary Insanity the Cause—Had No Known Trouble—He Deliberately Arranges the Matter.

Yesterday afternoon Bert Parr, the flour and feed merchant of Auburndale, went out to the barn where he stabled his horse, fixed a rope on one of the rafters, fashioned a noose, calmly adjusted it about his neck, and then kicked away the bale of straw on which he was standing. Death came swift and sure, and late in the afternoon he was found hanging there by William H. Ritch, who had been sent by Mrs. Parr to look for her husband, who had not been home to dinner.

Mr. Ritch found him hanging as above described. He notified Patrolman Peterson, and the body was cut down. Coroner Beckwith arrived soon and took in the situation. Parr had deliberately arranged for his own execution. The straw had been removed, leaving a small hole for him to hang in. He could probably have saved himself after he had kicked the bale from under his feet. He just hung until suffocated.

He had no seeming cause to commit the act. His family and business affairs were running along nicely. It is supposed he was insane at the time. He had been confined in the Pontiac asylum at one time when slightly deranged. His father committed suicide some ten years ago.

The affair caused considerable excitement in Auburndale. Parr was well known and generally liked.

The unfortunate man was 24 years of age. He formerly lived at Charlotte, Mich. Four years ago he married Miss Lulu Edich, of Brookfield. They lived happily together, and no reason can be ascribed for his suiciding other than insanity.

ST. MARYS.

Strange Story of Hard Luck—Cutting Affray.

St. Marys, O., Nov. 16.—(Special)—Mrs. Emma McVay, by her counsel, Mattingly & Kenney, of Celina, and John N. Doty, of Findlay, O., yesterday filed a suit in the common pleas court of this county against H. C. Drees, marshal of Minster, and his deputy, Clem Vallo, for causing the death of her husband. The action is brought under the statute providing for the recovery of not exceeding $10,000 for causing the death of another by wrongful act. The statute is generally known as the "Lord Campbell act." The prosecution of this action bids fair to be vigorously fought to a finish, whether the criminal action succeeds or not in the punishment of that inexcusable killing of Curtis McVay on October 31.

John Seslar, once a prominent and well-to-do resident of this county, sold his property and other effects a few years ago and sought a home in the sunny south within the borders of Tennessee. He managed to get a home, and was just settled down when he lost his wife. She was soon followed to the grave by the only daughter. This misfortune was followed by the loss of his horses from poison and his cattle from an epidemic. Finally fire destroyed what property remained to the ill-fated man, which left him with a son 15 years old, and with nothing else except a small farm. He and his son started to walk back to Mercer county, and when they reached Cincinnati their clothing was of the poorest kind. There he applied for a charity pass to Celina, and he arrived at the home of Mercer relatives yesterday a distracted man.

A serious cutting affray occurred near Sidney, Shelby county, yesterday. John Brown, aged 16, became involved in a quarrel with Frank Elliott over some trivial matter, when the former drew a knife and placing it against Elliott's throat, threatened to cut it if he moved a muscle. The foreman of he whip factory, where the scene took place interfered at this juncture, and, springing between the two, wrested the knife away from Brown, but not until he had severely gashed Elliott in the arm. A warrant was immediately sworn out and two officers were sent out to arrest Brown, who made a desperate effort to get away, but was unsuccessful. The youngster was tried before the mayor and was bound to court in the sum of $500, on the charge of cutting with intent to kill. Brown was released from the reform farm only several months ago, and is a holy terror for his age.

CHAIRMAN CARTER.

He Leaves New York for Washington to See the President.

New York, Nov. 16.—Hon. Thomas H. Carter, chairman of the republican national committee, has gone to Washington. He said that he was preparing a statement and would give it out this week. It is thought that he will give it to the public in Washington after he has seen the president.

Before Mr. Carter left the city he said to a friend that the republican party was fairly and squarely beaten. If the democratic victory had been in certain localities, then some local or special causes could be given. It was too sweeping to attribute it to local causes.

HOUSEWIFE AND A HOUSEGOWN

I saw a pretty housewife, with sunny brown hair, a wild rose skin and moss eyes, wearing this dress. Such a woman will harmonize with the gown. A rich brunette, with ivory yellow skin tinged dull red on the cheeks, and with dull black hair, will seem the softer and more mist like. The only ones who must not wear it are the glossy, sleek women. They will look too vivid, and they will make the dress seem faded. This gown is of the softest dull cream, or ivory white china silk. The vines are wild rose, and are either embroidered, or painted in the natural colors, except that the green of the leaves and the pink of the petals are both softened a good deal. If painted the whole dress should be covered with a fine ivory white net to soften the effect. The sleeve of the ruffles are of crisp ribbon or satin. The top one is green like the leaves, the next pink like the petals, and the bottom one brown like the stems. A sash of faint rose color clasps the waist. It should be so faint that it almost matches the pink skin that shows through the pale pink crepe or gauze between the collars. These collars are green, like the top ruffle. The lace draped from the edges of the collars over the shoulders, is very fine, and of that dull ivory that that old lace gets. It may be very lightly embroidered in pale green and rose and brown to a softly cashmere effect. The arms show through the pink crepe or gauze puff that makes the upper sleeve. This puff is finished by turn back pointed cuffs cut to match the collar and made of the green silk. The long cuff below is the ivory silk painted or embroidered like the skirt. That part of the bodice which shows beneath the lace is of the ivory silk.

Of course, any ingenious woman can work out very nearly these effects in cheaper materials. FLORETTE.

ENDED HIS DAYS.

A Hicksville Boy Commits Suicide With a Rifle.

Tiffin, O., Nov. 16.—One of the most terrible tragedies ever witnessed in Hicksville, O., occurred yesterday when Rollo Bucher, a 13-year-old boy, placed a rifle to his forehead, pulled the trigger, and fell to the floor a corpse, with his brains bespattering everything around him.

When a mere child, owing to illness, Rollo lost his power of speech, which was never restored to him. He was an unusually bright boy, but had never enjoyed the advantages of an education owing to his infirmity.

Recently his parents decided to send him to school, and to this he was most adverse. He became despondent, and after brooding over his trouble for some weeks, he doubtless determined to end his own existence, and the tragedy has shocked the community beyond anything that has occurred heretofore in the history of Hicksville.

Three Sleepless Nights

MARLBORO, Ohio, April 14, 1892.

The Hand Medicine Co.

DEAR SIRS:—Having used nearly four bottles of your Colic Cure, I forward you this testimonial, hoping it may benefit many mothers with suffering babies. I am the happy mother of triplets, all girls; now 11 weeks old. When they were about 3 weeks old they were taken with a very severe attack of wind colic. There were three days and nights I had two of them in my arms nearly all the time. I tried all the remedies I had ever heard of without any relief. A sample of your Colic Cure was handed me, which I used with the very best results, and I sent for more at once and I shall recommend it to every mother. I feel there is no language strong enough to express its value. I have also used several of the other Remedies and found each to be exactly as you represented them to be. I trust the Lord will forever bless you for procuring a remedy to relieve suffering innocence.

Great Professor's Work at Dartmouth.

His Chair One That Famed Men Have Made Famous.

Work for the Public Good Accomplished.

Life May Better Be Worth the Living Now.

The Old Medical School at Hanover in the Hills.

Boston.—The most important professorship in the country, in many respects, is at Dartmouth college.

It is the chair that has been occupied by Prof. Robby and afterwards by the great professor, Edward E. Phelps, M. D., LL. D., the discoverer of probably the most famous prescription in the world.

Dr. Phelps ranks not only as a leading scientist, but his name is at the very head of the list of eminent practitioners that the country has produced.

Even as a young man, his ability was conspicuous. He had mastered the teachings of the latest German science. He had made an exhaustive study of the German hospitals. He was recognized as an authority on materia medica long before the faculty at Hanover called him to instruct the young students, whose successful practice has kept the standing of the Dartmouth medical school always higher than its rivals.

It was Dr. Phelps who so cleverly foresaw the dangers of the American way of living. With the best methods and the most advanced knowledge of the times at his command, he went to work to find a scientific, common sense remedy to cure the too common evils that, under one name and another, result from an unhealthful state of the nervous system, and within a score of years have seemed to be sweeping over the country like an epidemic.

He succeeded.

He gave to the medical profession that celebrated prescription which has since come to be known the world over as Paine's celery compound.

It is Dr. Phelps' prescription which ever since has been freely used and prescribed by the most eminent of the profession. The formula was furnished to all reputable physicians. They found the wonderful remedy to be exactly what was claimed for it, a great nerve and brain strengthener and restorer.

It was demonstrated beyond doubt that Paine's celery compound would cure nervous debility and exhaustion, neuralgia, sleeplessness, dyspepsia and all blood diseases. It was as harmless as it was good.

It was the universal advice of the medical profession that the compound be placed where the general public could secure it, and thousands of people have every year proven the wisdom of this good advice.

The oft-quoted sentence of a well-known Boston physician and writer is worthy of repetition: "Paine's celery compound is not a patent medicine; it is not a sarsaparilla; it is not a mere tonic; it is not an ordinary nervine—it is as far beyond them all as the diamond is superior to cheap glass."

Patients who are weak and weary, when sleepless, dyspeptic or despondent, have been advised so often to use Paine's celery compound to ward off disease and despondency, and it has been used in so many thousands of cases with the result desired that it has come to be known everywhere by the public, as well as the medical profession and the druggists, as a specific in such cases.

There is an extraordinary demand for it upon the druggists. A reporter who recently interviewed the leading wholesale houses in Boston learned that the call for Paine's celery compound was never so large as it has been this year. Said Mr. Fred L. Carter, of the firm of Carter, Carter & Kilham:

"It is an actual fact that despite the steady increase that has been going on for a long while, and the particularly rapid increase this year, both in size and frequency of our orders for the compound, and although we have recently been ordering more than usual, yet we found ourselves unable to fill our orders.

"And this was the experience of the other large houses, I hear. Of course a call like this represents a big demand upon the retail druggists, and is a very good indication of the merits of the remedy."

A physician who overheard the conversation remarked to the reporter: "A remedy of such undisputed excellence as Paine's celery compound must always be in greater and greater demand. It is really the one remedy that is prescribed and recommended by intelligent physicians as a cure for the woeful ills that result from a diseased nervous system and impure blood!"

Said Mr. Wood, of the firm of Weeks & Potter: "From everywhere, on almost every order from our customers, east and west, there comes an order for Paine's celery compound. Our sales are very heavy and are constantly increasing. Paine's celery compound is one of those standard things that any house of high standing is glad to speak well of and to see a great demand for. We sell a great deal of it over our retail counters."

Mr. Bartlett, with Gilman Brothers, said, in substance: "Every retail druggist sends to the wholesaler with whom he trades what is called a 'want list.' On the want lists that we see almost every time there's the item 'Paine's celery compound.' There is a fast but steady increase in the demand for it."

"It is having an immense sale with us," said Mr. E. P. Bryant of George C. Goodwin & Co. "Several times we have been almost unable to fill our orders."

Mr. Bryant went on to speak of the remedy itself. "It is one of the few articles," he said, "that we never hear a complaint about. Lots of my personal friends are using it, and they all speak of it in the highest terms. We knew the value of the preparation long ago, and our prophecy that some day it would stand in the very front rank of popularity is coming true."

Said Mr. George L. Lawrence, treasurer of the Rust & Richardson Drug company: "Paine's celery compound has come to be a standard remedy for diseases resulting from weakened nerves and impure blood. When I tell you that within a year its sales have increased three or four times, and that the demand has been and is today a steadily increasing one, you will understand the favor in which it is held by those who have used it."

Paine's celery compound is having this great sale because it is good.

Because it never fails to give relief.

Because by its use so many have been restored to health.

Because it has been demonstrated beyond doubt that it is exactly what is claimed for it, that it is a great nerve and brain strengthener and restorer, that it cures nervous debility and exhaustion, neuralgia, sleeplessness, dyspepsia, and all blood diseases. Because it makes people well.

To Dartmouth's great professor thousands of grateful people of all classes and creeds owe more than they can acknowledge, and hold him in as high esteem as did ever a class of students who sat below him.

ANECDOTE OF NAPOLEON.

How the Great General Mapped Out the Battle of Marengo in Advance of the Fight.

When Napoleon was first consul of France, Bourrienne, one day just before the eastern campaign, came into the cabinet at the Tuileries, and found a large map unrolled upon the carpet, and Napoleon stretched upon it, moving pins about that were tipped with red and black sealing wax.

Bourrienne very soon saw that the red represented the French and the black the Austrian forces; he watched the progress of the pin campaign in silence, but with the deepest interest.

Having conducted the maneuvers to a successful termination, Napoleon looked up at his secretary and said: "Do you think that I shall beat Melas?"

"Why, how can I tell?" replied Bourrienne.

"Tell! you simpleton; look here! Melas is at Alexandria, and will remain there until Genoa surrenders. His magazines, hospitals, artillery and reserves are at Alexandria. Passing the Alps here," said he, sticking a pin into the Great St. Bernard, "I fall upon his rear, cut off his communications with Austria, and meet him in the valley here." So saying, he stuck a red pin in the plain of Marengo. Bourrienne looked upon the moving of the pins as mere pastime and was so incredulous that Napoleon rolled up the map, exclaiming playfully, "Oh, you ninny and goose."

Ten weeks later Bourrienne found himself writing up the battle of Marengo at Napoleon's dictation on the very spot where he had placed the pin and recalled the circumstance with wonder at his foresight that bordered on reverence.

MASAI WOMEN.

They Belong to a Warlike Tribe That is the Terror of all Surrounding Tribes.

The Masai tribe, dwellers in Chaga, between the coast and Kilimanjaro, are reputed the fiercest and most warlike on the eastern side of that continent. They recognize no law, and are looked upon with terror by all the surrounding tribes. They are cattle stealers, freebooters and raiders.

The Masai women are ill-made, angular creatures, but very strong and fleet. Their poor development is doubtless owing to the fact that they are loaded down with coils of brass and iron wire, which are put on them while they are yet girls, often to the amount of 40, 50 and even 60 pounds in weight. These they never take off, and as the girls grow their ornaments become imbedded in their flesh.

With such a weight no young woman could reach her highest physical development. Truly there are follies of fashion worse even than corsets and trained skirts, and a woman need not necessarily become civilized to be a suffering votary of Dame Fashion.

The regulation dress of a Masai woman of high degree consists of four metal spiral coils for the legs, four similar coils for the arms, and a metal coil collar, supplemented by as many brass and pewter necklets as she can afford, so that her lover may literally call her a jewel.

All this adornment is set off by several pounds of beads and metal trinkets, which she wears in all sorts of curious and feminine fancies. In some places they fasten bone ornaments into the hair, and wear a band across the forehead with a bead or metal fringe over the eyes, which forms a truly gorgeous "bang." Ussually they wear a skirt of cowhide, and sometimes a second hide as a cloak, unless they can afford one of monkey, goat or sheepskin.

They paint their faces, as do the men, in white and red splotches, and sometimes don a cowhide hood trimmed on the edges with blue or green glass rings, leaving their ears exposed to show the heavy Catherine earrings. They have a wooden ear stretcher with which they elongate the lobes of their ears until they reach the shoulder—the longer the more beautiful.

The Masai men being constantly at war, their women act as purveyors and are allowed to pass unmolested between tribes. But if one accepts lovers from a hostile tribe let her beware.

She is liable to be cast, with all her finery, into a red-hot fire and burned alive. When the fire is allowed to go out all that is left of the quandom Masai belle is a great lump of smelted iron and brass. And no emblem of bad luck can be bestowed upon an enemy, according to the Masai superstition, so effectual as a chunk of this fused metal, intermingled with bits of glass from her innumerable beads, the remnants of her worldly splendor.

HOW AN EDITOR GREW RICH.

John Brisban Walker's Shrewd Real Estate Investments.

John Brisbun Walker, proprietor of the Cosmopolitan Magazine, has recently sold to Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad company, for $2,500,000 a piece of land in Denver, Col., for which he paid, less that 10 years ago, the sum of $1,500. I fancy this is the most wonderful rise in the value of real estate that has ever occurred in this country, says a writer in the Washington Star. What wonderful luck! I suppose many readers will exclaim. As usual, with successful men, there was no luck about it at all. rM. Walker was possessed of the ability to see the value of this property before any one else saw it—that is all. When he bought it the territory was a detached piece of land in front of the city with a river channel between it and the land laid out as streets. Mr. Walker built a causeway to connect his purchase with the main land, which cost him something, but not very much. The company was compelled to purchase this tract. It could not get along without it.

Other real estate investments in and about Denver have netted Mr. Walker above $500,000 more, so that his total wealth is now reckoned at $3,000,000. This is a good amount of wealth to be gained in legitimate ways by a comparatively young man, who 13 years ago was publishing a small weekly newspaper in the city of Washington, and was by no means a rich man.

Did you ever hear of the Washington Republic? When Mr. Walker started it, it was a little eight-page paper. It was issued from the rooms that are now the editorial offices of the Washington Evening Star. Walker soon found that he would never make his fortune as a newspaper publisher in Washington, and he sold his paper to the late H. J. Ramsdell, who made the Republic a readible Blaine organ for a number of years. Gail Hamilton wrote for it during Ramsdell's editorship. It was bright, entertaining, and had a snug little circulation. Now it is back in the eight-page form and the property of Mr. Darby, the well-known Washington printer.

Walker's 10-strike did not cure him of the editorial fever. On the contrary, the first thing he did when he got plenty of funds in the bank was to go to New York and buy the Cosmopolitan. Under his management it is bound to win, because he has money enough to make it go. Brains enough, too, it is needless to say. The man who could see millons in a strip of apparently worthless land at the river edge of Denver does not need Mr. Howells or anybody else to edit a magazine for him. He is a man of ideas, with a fine imagination and clear perception.

GILMORE AN EDUCATOR.

"The Gilmore band," said M. Emil Karst in the foyer of the exposition hall the other day," has been one of the greatest music educators this country has ever had. Theodore Thomas has the wrong idea when he takes the public by the throat, as it were, and rams the finest classical music down its oesophagus. The musical stomach of our people is not yet educated to this kind of diet, and the appetite cannot be forced. Plain, simple food at first is the true regimen, Mr. Thomas. After a while, as the taste improves and becomes refined, give it by degrees all that it will take of your delightful menu. Gilmore, while he lived, fed the people on the simple, grand harmonies and on the beautiful melodies of the composers. He comprehended thoroughly the limitations of his band and the tastes of the public. Hence his great popularity and success. There has been undoubted improvement in the appreciation of his auditors. A better style of music now absorbs the attention of those who sit in the parquet and dress circles. For instance, to-day did you notice the universal enjoyment of the opening number of the program, a selection from Weber, full of delicious harmonies? The growth in taste is palpable, unmistakable. Thousands of our people have no longer any patience with such trivialties as 'Yankee Doodle" and 'Dixie.' They want better food. If the new bandmaster will keep right along in the way so wisely laid out by Gilmore his success is assured."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A COMMON SENSE REMEDY.

In the matter of curatives what you want is something that will do its work while you continue to do yours—a remedy that will give you no inconvenience nor interfere with your business. Such a remedy is Allcock's Porous Plasters. These have been in use for over thirty years, and their value has been attested by the highest medical authorities, as well as by testimonials from those who have used them. They require no change of diet and are not affected by wet or cold. Their action does not interfere with labor or business; you can toil and yet be cured while hard at work. They are so pure that the youngest, the oldest, the most delicate person of either sex can use them with great benefit.

Beware of imitations, and do not be deceived by misrepresentations. Ask for Allcock's, and let no solicitation or explanation induce you to accept a substitute.

REMEDY FOR NERVOUSNESS.

Sufferers from nervous maladies have perhaps in store for them a method of alleviating their discomfort not dissimilar to the musical system of soothing the sick which Englishmen have been trying to introduce. It is in the department of "vibratory medicine" that the celebrated French doctor, M. Charcot, has hit upon his latest idea.

Having noticed that patients affected by a certain form of paralysis, "shaking palsy," appeared to derive great benefit from long journeys by rail, M. Charcot has caused to be constructed a sort of arm chair, which by an ingenious arrangement produces vibrations resembling those of a train in motion. Placed in these fauteuils trepidants, the subjects of M. Charcot's experiments gradually lose the chief symptoms of their disorder and finally fall into a calm and refreshing sleep.

A compatriot of M. Charcot, M. Gilles de la Tourette, has, working on the same lines, contrived a "vibrating cap" for the transmission to the head of localized vibrations. After wearing this novel article of attire for about seven or eight minutes, a man in good health is made quite sleepy by the soft buzzing of the cap, while in cases of insomnia, bad headache and so on, unquestionable relief is produced by its application. Each of these two clever inventions should be of service in this age of "nerves" and overpressure.

GOLD FROM THE SKY.

Discovery of a Valuable Aerolite by An Idaho Miner.

On the night of August 20 the upper end of the Bruneau valley, Owyhee county, was made light as day by the fiery glow of a large meteor that shot earthward out of the southwestern heavens.

Jack Ronald, a ranch proprietor, who witnessed the flight of the meteorite, said it appeared as large as an ordinary boxcar, and that as it slanted downward it emitted alternately a deep red and dazzling white light.

He could hear a humming noise as the celestial firebrand dropped through the air, and occasionally there was a sound as of the distant explosion of small firecrackers. He saw the meteor pass down behind the dark outline of a high hill about two miles away, and a few seconds later he heard a sharp explosion.

Within the next few moments Ronald saw six smaller aerolites shoot through space, but he could not tell whether any of them struck the earth.

After the fall of the big meteor the air was charged with electricity, which so affected Ronald's horses that they became staggered and fell down, vomiting and snorting.

Next morning Ronald made a search for the aerolite, but he was unable to find a trace of it.

Another man who witnessed the phenomenon was Orley Adams, a placer miner. On Tuesday he too commenced a search for the fiery visitor, and after a few hours his search was rewarded by the discovery of a meteoric stone, weighing probably 400 pounds, which had struck a sand bank on the margin of a creek and had then ricochetted 90 feet to a bluff of clay, where it had lodged.

Adams, after considerable effort, chipped off a piece of the stone and now has it in his possession in this city.

It has the appearance of half smelted iron ore, but Adams declares that an assayer has assured him that the stone is rich in gold. Adams, who is a reputable man, says he is sure he has found the aerolite that was seen by Ronald and himself. He declares that he was not over 1,000 yards distant from the meteor when it struck the earth and that he felt the heat and electric atmosphere which surrounded the incandescent bolt.

When he arose next morning and started to search for the fallen star, as he called it, he found stumps and boulders besprinkled with fine sand and correctly conjuring that the meteor must have landed in or near the creek he proceeded to the stream and soon discovered what he sought.

He will haul the stone to the railroad and ship it to Denver, being unwilling to part with it for scientific purposes. He thinks the meteor, which is extremely heavy, is more than half gold.—San Francisco Examiner.

AMAZING EATING POWERS.

L. Trouvelot tells us of the astonishing voracity of a species of caterpillar, Polyphemus, and some curious experiments made by him in ascertaining the amount of food consumed and its relation to the it weighed but one-twentieth of a grain; grub's growth and extraordinary development. When the young was first hatched when ten days old this weight had increased to three full grains, or sixty times its weight at the moment it left the egg. When the creature was a month old it weighed thirty-one grains, or 620 times the amount of the first weighing, and at the expiration of ten more days it had again trebled in weight, showing a full ninety grains avoirdupois, or 1,800 times the original weight. At the fifty-sixth day the worm had attained its full size and now weighed 207 grains, 4,140 times the amount of the original one-twentieth grain weight. If man's adult weight was 4,000 times that of the average weight at birth his twenty-first birthday would find him carrying around something like twenty tons of surplus flesh. But this wonderful increase in weight, and the curious calculations that can be deducted therefrom are not more remarkable that the food-consuming powers of such creatures. When the worm is thirty days old it has consumed about ninety grains of solid food, but before this time has doubled itself, or at the end of fifty-six days, when the worm is full grown, it has consumed not less than thirty leaves, weighing three-fourths of a pound. Thus it will be seen that the food consumed, by such creatures before they reach "their majority" equals the original weight of the caterpillar at least 86,000 times.—St. Louis Republic.

A SPY'S STORY.

"I came very near being hanged for a spy during the civil war," said Capt. T. C. LaMotte. "I was on the losing side during the rebellion and was frequently detailed for special duty. I got into Grant's camp shortly before the battle of Shiloh, acquired the information I was in quest of, and was ready to return, when the hero of Fort Donelson ordered me brought before him. I was personating a deaf mute beggar and had given by place of residence as Cincinnati. As I entered the general's tent in charge of a sergeant, he removed his cigar and looked me over critically. His gray eyes seemed to look me through and through. Then he turned to his adjutant and said: 'That fellow is a spy. Have him searched and imprisoned.' As he spoke, the sergeant fired a pistol directly back of my head. My nerves were well braced and never flinched. The general stroked his stubby beard and I could see that his conviction that I was a spy was shaken. He took up a pad of paper, wrote on it rapidly a dozen questions about the city of Cincinnati and its leading people, and handed it to me. I had spent three years in that city, and my answers were prompt and correct. 'Put him in the guardhouse and report me,' said Grant, and the order was carried out. That night, when I was sleeping heavily, the sergeant entered the guardhouse and fired a pistol near my head. It awakened me, but I had presence of mind enough not to open my eyes or stir. Then he shook me roughly and told me the house was on fire. I merely sat and stared at him vacantly. 'Quick! quick! where are your clothes?' he asked. I fumbled about and handed him my slate and pencil. He left me and the next morning I got permission to leave the camp. I had fooled U. S. Grant, but he made a mighty close call for my scalp."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

TERPSICHORE IN THE WEST.

A New Dance Which is Said to be Very Fashionable in Tacoma.

The skirt dance has had its day and is cast aside for a new favorite. The chahut is the pet of a society, the darling of the goddess fashion. It is danced on the stage and studied in the drawing-room. The footlight queen and the leader of society both affect it, according to the Tacoma News.

The chahut is old as well as new. The sedate quadrille was driven from the stage by it 60 years ago. And then the sedate police banished the chahut. Later it was made popular by the Clodoches, the male dancers.

You have seen that wild, ungraceful acrobatic dance that is more startling than beautiful. It does not amount to much danced by these grotesquely-costumed individuals. In fact it was ceasing to be considered an attraction when a number of women revived it in a wilder, more acrobatic form than ever before.

With such eccentric names as the Glutton, Nine-foot-in-air, the Macaroni girl, they have invaded the stage and have danced their jointless, disheveled dance into public favor, until now it is popular in the parlors of the aristocracy, and the footlight favorite has become the teacher of social loyalty.

The dance is simpe enough—it is merely an acrobatic performance, the result of severe training. The steps are not numerous and are noticeable chiefly for the suppleness they require. "Carry arms," for instance, is executed by throwing the leg violently forward, the hand seizes the calf and draws it up to the shoulder. "The leg behind the head," which has no other name, is similar except that the leg is held behind instead of in front.

The dance is not graceful, but it is startling, and therefore attractive. But it is difficult to acquire, nevertheless, and means much hard work and not a little pain.

THE COYOTE IN A NEW CHARACTER.

When El Paso, Texas, was a little village called Franklin, says the Bulletin of that city, it was the boast of old-timers that hydrophobia was unknown in the southwest save when the frontiersman was exposed to the bite of the skunk. Of recent years a new danger has been added to a life upon the plains from the attack of the coyote, or wild dog of the plains. Under normal circumstances the coyote is a cowardly animal. But due to some fact unknown to the writer, of late years coyotes have been frequently known in the southwest to attack travelers in broad daylight or to sneak upon them when wrapped up in their blankets at night resting, unsuspicious of danger. Five deaths occurred last year from this cause. One of them near Albuquerque. Lieut. Britton Davis of Chihuahua, Mexico, upon Saturday, informed the writer of three fresh cases, one the son of a bishop. Of the other two the lieutenant had just been informed by one of the victims in person, who had been bitten when asleep at the Hacienda of Corralitos. They were two brothers, one having died of the effects of a bite in the head, the remaining one having arrived in person in El Paso seeking medical assistance.

THE MIRACLE OF CIVILIZATION.

"To those who have a taste for intellectual weights and measures, the knotted skein of human motives, good and bad, with their delicate distinctions, constitutes one of the chief attractions of humanity," writes Walter Blackburn Harte, in an attempt to prove the relation of fiction and metaphysics, in the New England Magazine. "The mere fact that we have the power to hide our crude desires and that civilization is built upon numberless compromises beneath which the brute lies hidden in all but the darkest corners of civilization's own making—half hidden almost everywhere, but dominating the whole society polity, through its multiform and manifold refinements, codes, creeds and compromises—this stupendous miracle, the accompaniment of the evolution of a corporate science in humanity, of this art. This is the miracle which has brute, to the brute in the man, should alone satisfy the ambition of any novelist who delights in the complexity of the materials of this art. This is the miracle which has occupied and still occupies the greatest intellects the world has produced. Every man is an imperfect amalgam of divinity and gunpowder. One need scarcely invent another world to provide one's self with more delicate and difficult material."

WE KNOW HIM.

And Have All Had Experience with Him.

In this city, says the San Francisco Examiner, is a bright gentleman who knows how to do anything and everything just a little better than any one in all the world. He instructs boat builders how to build boats and yachtmen how to sail yachts. Artists are given gratuitous instructions on how to paint pictures and authors in the pastime of writing books. Lawyers are told off-hand how to conduct cases, and as for merchants, the information given them about business is without stint. Lansing Mizner, jr., is now telling this story on the gentleman of such universal knowledge:

"During the last big earthquake X. and I were rooming together. Just as the earth was at its wiggliest, when the walls cracked, the chandeliers swung dizzily, and from the pantry came the despairing crash of a fortune in crockery, X. awoke. His first words were:

"'Hold on, Lord. Let me show you.'"

CHILDHOOD AND OLD AGE.

The Tender Grandchild and a Well-to-do Old Gentleman of 72, Acknowledge Obligations.

The preparation that can be taken with safety and benefit by the tender infant, and that nourishes, strengthens, and cures the aged and infirm, is one that can truly be called scientific. Such a preparation was discovered by Dr. David Kennedy and named Favorite Remedy. It is prescribed and recommended the world over, by the medical profession, as the best medicine produced for the cure of all diseases arising from an impure condition of the blood.

This beautiful child whose picture is shown here, is the grandchild of Mr. J. E. Palmateer of Athens, N. Y., who had been cured of gravel in the kidneys and insomonia, (sleeplessnes) finishes his letter by saying:

"But this is not all Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has done for our family. My little grand daughter had eczema the worst way; she was a mass of running sores from her ears around the entire neck to her cheeks. My wife gave her Favorite Remedy in small doses, and what was the result? To-day the sores have all disappeared, the skin is smooth and clear, and she is fat and rugged and as bright as a silver dollar.

Mr. Solomon Davis of North Kortright, N. Y., finds himself at 72 years, suffering from neuralgia, felt tired all the time, weak, languid, poor appetite, and no ambition. Thought at his age nothing could do him any good, but like hundreds of other people in his condition tried Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy and began to get better at once, and now feels as hale and hearty as he ever did.

It is particularly pleasing when sickness is as common as now, to know that there is a remedy that cures disease, builds up the weak and debilitated, strengthens the nerves, and has restored to health and strength, men and women who have been confined to their homes for months on beds of sickness.

MARKETS OF THE WORLD

Receipts of Wheat Not Up to the Average.

Some Oonundrums Found in the Trade.

Live Stock Transactions—The Toledo Grain Pit—Quotations From All Over.

The receipts of wheat at Toledo to-day are 15,924 bu. less than on the corresponding Wednesday in 1891.

The receipts of wheat to-day at seven points are 57,513 bu. less than in 1891. The receipts in the northwest are 181,694 bu. more and at five other western points are 139,107 bu. less than in 1891.

On Saturday last we called attention to a paragraph in the Liverpool Corn Trade News showing the stimulating effect upon wheat prices of active speculative trading in any of its grades, and that the absence of this speculative trading depressed the price.

And now comes the New York "Mail and Express" with a statement of comparative values in Chicago, between the contract grade of wheat—the speculative grade—and No. 2 hard which is and has been the principal export grade.

The Mail and Express justly says, that although this hard variety of wheat is worth very nearly as much as the speculative grade, it has been and is now selling at 5c to 6c below it. It sold there yesterday at 5 3-4c below it. This discrepency in price can only be attributed to the absence of active speculative trading in it.

If the Washburns, et al. desired to see this point they could, but they do not. They know that the suppression, or even a partial check to this active trading in the products of our country will depress the price of wheat to the Minnesota and Dakota farmers, and by harnessing the selling of wheat with the restrictions proposed will of course reduce the competition in buying and give the great milling interest a large control over the price. This is the human nature element in the Wash burn bill, and it will be a cold day for the farmer when it is enacted into law.

Bradstreet's makes the visible supply of wheat increased last week, on both coasts, 3,630,000 bu.

The wheat markets on this side of the ocean are dull to-day, but have reacted a little from the closing prices of yesterday. The outlook so far as can be discovered by the naked eye is no more encouraging. English markets are lower. Northwest receipts are in excess of 1891, and while winter wheat receipts are decreasing, the aggregate is more than is wanted. But perhaps 72c for December wheat at Chicago is the hard pan, and a little reaction quite natural, and, again, the advance in corn may have improved wheat.

Corn has had quite a little bulge to-day and at Chicago May and December have gained a near 1c bu. Strong parties seem to have great faith in corn and oats.

Foreign markets close without much significance, but they are quoted lower.

In New York November wheat closed at 76 1-8, a gain of 3-8; December at 76 5-8 and May at 83 5-8, a gain of 1-2 on each. November corn at 50 1-8, a gain of 3-8; December at 50 7-8, a gain of 5-8; May at 53 1-4, a gain of 1c. December oats at 6 1-2, a gain of 1-4.

In Chicago November wheat closed at 71 5-8; December at 72 5-8, a gain on each of 5-8; May at 78 5-8, a gain of 3-8. November corn at 41 1-2, a gain of 5-8; December at 41 7-8, a gain of 7-8; May at 47 1-4, a gain of 1c. December oats at 31 5-8, a gain of 5-8.

In Toledo business has been very light and the market without interest or life. The outside trading seems to be dried up. Prices opened steady, but improved a little and closed 1-4c above yesterday on December wheat.

On the call November wheat sold at 72 1-2c; December at 73 1-2c, and May at 79 5-8c. On the regular board December sold at 73 1-2c to 73 3-4c; May at 79 1-2c to 79 3-4c. Cash wheat was dull. Sales light, closing 1-4c up. No. 2 soft sold at 72 3-4c and closed at that. In L. S. at 73 to 73 1-4c. No. 3 soft at 66c. December sold at 66 3-4c. In L. S. sales at 68 1-4c. Rejected No. 1 at 61 1-2c.

Corn—No. 2 for May at 46 3-4c; cash about 43c. No. 3 at 42c.

Clover seed was fairly active and steady. On the call December sold at $7.75, and March at $7.90. On the regular board November sold at $7.75; January at $7.80; February at $7.80 to $7.85. No. 2 at $7.50 to $7.60.

The receipts of wheat to-day at Minneapolis and Duluth are 627,436 bu. and at five other western points 419,044 bu.; total, 1,046,480 bu. On the corresponding Wednesday in 1891 the receipts at the same points were 1,103,893 bu., including 545,742 bu. of northwest wheat, leaving as the movement at five other western points 558,151 bu., compared with 419,044 bu. to-day.

The export clearances yesterday at four Atlantic ports were, wheat, 218,529 bu. and flour to an aggregate of 300,000 bu.

English markets are dull for wheat, and lower for corn.

Burglars Go Through a Minnesota Bank.

They Take a Cool Thousand Dollars and Fail to Leave Their Address.

Woodstock, Minn., Nov. 16.—Two masked men entered the bank of Woodstock at 8 p. m. last evening, demanding of Cashier Perry and Assistant Craig that they open the vault.

One took Perry in charge while the other forced Craig to enter the vault.

The robber then helped himself to whatever he wanted.

The burglars escaped with $1,000 and failed to leave their address. Several parties have gone in pursuit of them.

A very pretty wedding occurred at St. Patrick's church at 8 o'clock this morning, when Miss Nellie Cronin and Mr. Guy Christy were united in marriage. The bride was charming in a handsome white silk trimmed in silk and chiffon. She wore a dainty white velvet hat and carried bride's roses. After the ceremony the happy couple repaired to the home of the bride's parents, where an elegant wedding breakfast was served, the relatives of the contracting parties only being present. Mrs. Christy has been stenographer for some time past for the Wabash Railroad company, and their appreciation of her services were shown by an elegant wedding present from the company. Mr. Christy is an esteemed employe of the Lake Shore. A large reception will be tendered Mr. and Mrs. Christy this evening, after which they will go immediately to their new home, 696 Indiana avenue. They were the recipients of many elegant presents from friends at home and abroad. The guests from abroad were Mrs. Nelson, of New York, and Mrs. Keefe, of Meadville, Pa.

ARMY RECRUITING.

How Uncle Sam Adds to His Army.

Establishment of a Recruiting Rendezvous in Toledo in Charge of a Native Ohioan.

There arrived in this city to-day the men, records and public property of the late army recruiting station at Altoona, Pa., which was discontinued by order of Oct. 31. The men consist of two privates, and the property of clothing, bedding, blankets, stoves, and all the other paraphernalia of such a rendezvous in one of the larger cities.

The rendezvous newly established here is in charge of Lieut. Joseph M. T. Partello, of the Fifth Infantry, who has been in the recruiting service for the whole army since last June, and formerly did such work for his own regiment. He lately came here from New Haven, Conn., where he was on Gov. Buckley's staff, and with him in the rendezvous here has been for about a week Private Patrick Casey, ordered on from New York Harbor. The rendezvous is on the second floor of the building immediately south of the postoffice, fronting on St. Clair street, and consists of an office in front, and the necessary rooms to the rear for the squad and men accepted as recruits for infantry, cavalry and artillery, used also for the colored infantry and cavalry regiments. The office hours are from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m., and Lieut. Partello requires all his men to be on duty during that period.

The conditions of acceptance into the army are that the applicants shall be between the ages of 21 and 30 years, for infantry and artillery not less than five feet and four inches high, and weighing not less than 128 and not more than 190 pounds; for cavalry, not less than five feet and four inches, and not more than five feet ten inches high, and weighing not more than 165 pounds. Only unmarried men need apply, and applicants are required to satisfy the recruiting officer regarding age and character. They have also to undergo a rigid physical examination, under which about 75 per cent. are rejected.

The term of service is for five years, for all arms of the service. The pay for privates is $13 per month, and all soldiers receive from the government, in addition to their pay, rations, clothing, bedding, medicines and medical attendance. Each month 12 1-2 cents is deducted from each soldier's pay to be applied to the support of the home at Washington for soldiers who have become infirm during 20 years' service, or who may have been discharged for wounds received or sickness brought on in service. After 30 years service enlisted men are entitled to be retired, on three-fourths of the monthly pay allowed by law in the grade to which they had attained on retirement, with commutation for allowances of clothing and subsistence.

From the first year's pay $4 per month is retained, which, together with $1 per month for the third, $2 for the fourth and $3 per month for the fifth year, in addition to the rates, will be paid to the soldier upon discharge, if he has served honestly and faithfully. These sums are treated as deposits, and interest is allowed on them at 4 per cent. per annum from the end of the year of enlistment. Soldiers re-enlisting within one month after discharge receive a material increase of pay, which is further increased for each additional five years of continuous service. Many of the older soldiers now in the army have become wealthy from their savings, and by taking advantage of opportunities offered for good investments.

A soldier in his first enlistment after serving one year can purchase his discharge for $120 with reduction of $5 for every subsequent month till he completes three years, when, if he has served honestly and faithfully, he is entitled to a three-months' furlough with privilege of discharge at the end of the furlough.

Canteens are in operation at most army posts for supplying soldiers at moderate cost, with such articles as may be deemed necessary for use, entertainment and comfort; also for affording facilities for gymnastic exercises and proper games. After the expenses of the canteen are met the profits are distributed among the troops for their benefit. The total money allowance for clothing for five years is about $200, and by care and economy the soldier can save from this from $50 to $75, which is paid him on his discharge. He can deposit his savings in sums are less than $5, with any army paymaster, and on such sums deposited for six months or longer he will be paid interest at 4 per cent. per annum.

These deposits are non-forfeitable except for desertion. When a soldier is honorably discharged as expiration of his enlistment, or on account of sickness, this gravel pay is ample to carry him to the place of enlistment.

At nearly every military post there is a library and reading room, with a good assortment of books, magazines and papers; also post schools where every soldier so desiring can acquire, and keep up, free of cost, a fair English education.

Lieut. Partello had the option of going to several cities in the United States as recruiting officer, but selected Toledo, as he thought he could make a success here. If he does this will be maintained as a permanent station, at which he will remain two years, to then be replaced by another officer. He has power to establish stations in surrounding towns, subsequent to this recruiting rooms will be established here with his wife and family here with him, and his four children are attending the Toledo schools. He is a native of Ohio having been born in Columbus. His father was editor of the Ohio Statesman, and went east with Hon. S. S. Cox. He has a number of relatives in this state. An uncle recently died at Lima, where the lieutenant has cousins living. This is the first time he has served in his native state in his 17 years' army service.

Lieut. Partello is the first distinguished marksman in the U. S. army. A letter on target shooting from his pen appeared in the Bee of Oct. 1. He was with the Creedmoor team when they won the championship and competed against the British marksmen when they came over to this country. He won 28 medals while in the army, and Gen. Sheridan issued an order retiring him from further contests, and then he was presented with a very handsome medal. He was in Europe attached to one of the German regiments, to learn the military tactics of this country, came home for the Indian war, and went back. He found nobody to compete with in Germany, France or Italy, and found his hardest work in Ireland, though he was never defeated. He has a great admiration for the Irish sharpshooters, who must obtain a special license to carry a rifle. He also admires the Canadian marksmen. He is a great friend of Dr. Carver, the quick shot.

The recruiting rendezvous has so far taken their men on probation, and rejected six or seven who applied.

The contingent from Altoona consists of Corporal J. M. Carstens, 8 years in the service; Corporal R. Balst, 21 years, and Private J. Burk, 7 years. Now that they are here the rendezvous will put on all the military airs usual to such a station, with flag displayed and a man in uniform on duty at the door.

IN DUBLIN

Meeting of the National Federation.

The Evictions of the Poor People of That Land Still Continues.

Dublin, Nov. 16.—The convention of the National Federation was held in Dublin to-day.

The meeting was crowded by delegates from all parts of Ireland. Justin McCarthy presided at the opening of the session, but soon retired on account of not feeling well, and Thomas Sexton, M. P. for North Kerry, took his place.

Mr. Sexton said the convention was an informal parliament met to discharge the duty of the country.

Mr. John Dillon also spoke, earnestly approving the course of the government. Mr. Michael Davitt said that in the discharge of the duties of the chief secretaryship Mr. Morley enjoyed in a larger degree the confidence of the Irish people than they had ever before reposed in any man holding that office.

They believed that if the royal commission fearlessly faced the facts surrounding the evictions during the past 13 years the result would be the speedy reinstatement of evicted tenants; but the notorious evil of evictions itself could only be dealt with by a national authority, by the restoration to Ireland of a parliament clothed with powers to legislate for the needs of the people.

Mr. Davitt, after pleading for funds in aid of the "wounded soldiers" of the land war, proceeded to urge that amnesty should now be granted. A treason-felony prisoner, he added, from his own experience of penal servitude under the British system, involved more mental agony, humiliation and endurance than was comprised in the 22 years of the systems of punishment adopted in America and the British colonies.

He warned against any wild acts or intemperate words that might prejudice the national cause in this supreme moment of Ireland's hopes and aspirations.

Resolutions were adopted denouncing the course of the tory landlords and warning them not to drive the tenants into a new combination for self-preservation.

Much excitement has been caused in Bantry and vicinity by the course of Lady Bantry in serving her tenants with process for rents, and resistance to the payment of arrears is being organized. Mr. Gilhooly, M. P. for West Cork, has stated that all those evicted since 1879 unjustly would be reinstated in their holdings, and persons who have been covetous enough in the past to take these farms would derive no benefit from their infamous conduct toward their neighbors.

BUFFALO

Continues To Be Excited Over the Election.

Both Great Political Parties Are Charging Fraud Against the Other.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 16.—The democrats retaliated on their opponents this morning and swore out subpoenas for Seward A. Simon and Louis H. Eckhart, two well known republican leaders, on the charge of attempting to corrupt inspectors. The accused appeared in superior court this morning.

The republican had a counter surprise for their opponents this morning and it clinched their allegation of fraud in a most conclusive manner. In the Fourth district of the Eleventh ward, where it had been charged that the official returns had defrauded the republican candidates for district attorney and superintendent of education out of over half a hundred votes, the ballot-box was found with the original votes in it, which had been placed there with the ignorant inspectors under a misunderstanding of the law. The ballots were taken into court and counted and they revealed that the official returns did not tally with the votes in the box. The effect of this will be to seat the republican candidates for these offices.

Bank Robbers Enter a Plea of Guilty.

Four Men Who Have Long Sentences Staring Them in the Face.

Erie, Pa., Nov. 16.—The four young men who attempted to rob the Keystone National bank, of Erie, on October 3 at midday, and shot Cashier Kempler, pleaded guilty to-day.

John Courtney and C. W. Hawley pleaded guilty to entering with intent to rob, aggravated assault and battery, and assault and battery with intent to murder.

C. W. Smith and D. T. Evans pleaded guilty to entering with intent to rob and carrying concealed weapons.

All have been remanded for sentence. Smith and Evans are from Utica, N. Y.; the others claim to be from New York city.

PANAMA CANAL.

The Colombian Government Gives It a Lift.

The French Chamber Will Discuss the Affair Next Thursday.

Paris, Nov. 16.—The Figaro states that the United States of Colombia have extended the time of the Panama canal concession for one year, and urges the French government to abandon the idea of prosecuting the directors of the canal company.

The matter will be discussed in the chamber of deputies on Thursday.

This extension is regarded as a gracious act on the part of the Colombian government considering that within a few months, according to the terms of the concession, the vast work already done would have lapsed into Colombian hands.

M. Hielard is now placed in a better position to raise the $180,000,000 francs estimated as necessary for the completion of the canal, as doubtless a still further extension of time can be obtained if the Colombian government should be convinced that an earnest effort is to be made toward continuance of the work.

DREADFUL SKIN DISEASE.

Afflicts a Well-Known Merchant. Itching and Burning Terrible. Doctors and All Remedies Fail.

Tries Cuticura. Relieved by the First Application and Entirely Cured in Five Weeks.

About eighteen months ago a small speck appeared on my ankle; it resembled a fish scale; it became larger, and I consulted a physician who pronounced it psoriasis or moaied disease, because it resembled money. I applied an ointment, but it spread until at last it covered almost my entire body. My suffering was something terrible, burning and itching sensation continually until it became almost unendurable. I suffered tortures especially at night, and for two months I was compelled to sleep with gloves on. I became desperate. I would have given anything to be relieved of the itching sensation. I tried a number of remedies without any relief. I was requested to try CUTICURA; this I did, and to my great surprise, I was relieved after the first application. I used the CUTICURA, CUTICURA SOAP and CUTICURA RESOLVENT according to directions for about four or five weeks when I was entirely cured. But what a relief it was to me after the suffering I went through. I cannot speak with too much favor for the "CUTICURA REMEDIES," and I would recommend it to all those who are suffering from the same disease that I have suffered.

NOT A COMMON BEGGAR.

Gentleman Pete's Appeal and Its Effect Upon Less Polished Acquaintances.

"Pardon me, sir, a moment. Please stay! No, no, no! I am not a common beggar. For God's sake, sir, hear me, only a little! There, my language, my accent, tell you something—enough to make you pause. Yes, sir, I will speak fast. State my want, you say? Hear me a little, first, or you, too, will pass me by, as all others have to-night—and I am dying! Yes, dying! Let me tell you just a little. I was a gentleman—don't go. No, it is not the old story. Have they told you the old story in the accent I speak in now? Ah, now you look at me closer. Yes, I am just as rough in my dress, as unshaven, matted, dirty, sodden, almost, but—I looked like you once. Perhaps you know me—there is no danger of recognition. Where do I live? You ask that jokingly. Seriously, you say? No, I must not tell you that, for you may know my people, and think me dead. That is best. Wait, sir, wait! I did not mean to tire you, but only to say something that will convince you I was once what you are now. What of it, you say? This: I beg from you money for drink. Don't go yet! That was what I feared—I spoke too soon.

"Listen just a little: see what a wreck I am; see how I tremble; see my debasement, begging from my own kind! Just one drink, sir, to steady me; to keep the horrors off another hour. It is not the amount you care for, you say. Are you afraid of hastening my death? Ah, you are cynical. You say you fear another drink will prolong my life. That is very merry, sir, but I'll be merry, too. This I'll promise you: Give me drink and it shall not prolong my life. Yes, that is what I mean—suicide. Why do I not commit the deed without the drink? You do not know what this is I am suffering. Now, I cannot face death, for I'm weak and cowardly; but give me drink and I'll be as brave a mortal as ever faced hell with a jest! That I will! It will be easy then to die, for my blood will be hot, my heart bold, and my brain filled with such fancies as will make of death a joke—not the cold horror it seems now. Please give me, sir! I'll die, man, I tell you! I'll die, if that is to be the price of it. Die a thousand times! God! I'm dying now, but this is cruel, shivering, black, repulsive death! Oh, sir, before I sink! Give me life to die in warmth, in wealth, in comfort, in luxury—it would be all that—drink. Quick, sir, quick! Let us play a joke on death. I'll meet him with a laugh! a laugh! if you'll only give me a drink!"

"Holy gee, Willie, listen onto Gentleman Pete a rehearsing of his new speech. When he works dat off on de dudes to-night, he'll tap 'em every time, or I ain't no theatrical critic, an' I thinks I is. Pass de can, Willie, for Gentleman Pete is so realistic a acter, his burnin' words has made me dry. Tanks, Willie."—New York Sun.

THE DIFFERENCE.

A Man's Room Large and Spacious, a Woman's Small and Cosy.

A man's idea of comfort is to possess a large room with very few things in it, but those must every one be objects that cater to his comfort. He objects to rugs because he is forever tripping over them or kicking up the edges. Tidies are an abomination. Bric-a-brac, unless it can be utilized for pipes, cigars, ashes or tobacco, is an altogether unnecessary addition to the department. He likes cushions that he can, if he so desires, use for his feet rather than his head. He wants every chair an easy one, and he abhors curtains, in fact shades are superfluous in his eyes. His one weakness is for collecting photographs, and these, with rusty swords, antiquated pipes and riding whips, constitute his highest idea of decoration.

Now a woman's room is so different. She cannot get enough into it. The harder it is to get about the happier she is. Rugs, stray cushions, potted palms and odd little tables are to be found on the floor, besides the regular complement of desks, couches, chairs, book-cases and a hundred and one other things she manages to crowd into a space that man would think not large enough to sling the proverbial cat in.

While the man stands in the hall and wrings his hands in despair over the number of things yet to come, the woman with deft hands sets things to rights, and to his amazement he beholds places for the absent belongings, which decrease the size of the room, but which make it wonderfully cosy. It is born in a woman to revel in a host of pretty, meaningless trifles—it is a part of her nature; but a man asks only for that which is absolutely necessary to his comfort and which at the same time takes up the least room.

IN OLDEN TIMES

People overlooked the importance of permanently beneficial effects and were satisfied with transient action, but now that it is generally known that Syrup of Figs will permanently cure habitual constipation, well-informed people will not buy other laxatives, which act for a time, but finally injure the system.

The marriage of Dr. Sigurd Ibsen, son of the famous author, and Mlle. Bergliot Bjoernson, daughter of the poet and politician, took place in Gudbranstate, Norway, on October 11, and excited great interest throughout the country. It is said that young Ibsen will be the first minister of foreign affairs.
